QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Vare, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, it is with a great deal of pleasure that I rise in my place to say a few kind words for one of our good Senators who has been around here on this hill for many years, always taking his knocks and the sour with the sweet, and always a good sport. He will be fifty-seven years of age tomorrow, and I present, on behalf of the Senate, that beautiful bunch of American Beauties to the Honorable Max G. Leslie, of Allegheny County.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, and members of the Senate, I feel an expression from me at this time, wholly unprepared, never anticipating that my natal day was a matter of consideration by my friends, in fact, I am wholly unworthy of trying to express my appreciation of this thought of my friends. The few years that I have spent in this chamber and the friends that I have made are matters that will go with me the balance of my days, and will be a remembrance to my other friends and my family. I am positively grateful to my friends and thank you from the bottom of my heart.

The PRESIDENT. I am sure that the Senate is pleased to extend its birthday greetings and hearty good wishes to one of its worthy fellow Senators.

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 486, entitled:

An Act creating the Department of Public Welfare; defining its powers and duties; abolishing the Board of Public Charities and all offices thereunder, the Committee on Lunacy, and the Prison Labor Commission, and vesting all the powers of said Board, Committee and Commission in the Department of Public Welfare; requiring all reports, notices, statements, or matters heretofore required to be made, given or submitted to the Board of Public Charities or the Committee on Lunacy to be made, given or submitted to the Department of Public Welfare, and providing penalties.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I would like to say a few words in explanation of this bill. There will be a supplemental bill passed for the transfer of the Mothers' Assistance Fund to this Department if this bill passes. It takes over the functions of the Mothers' Assistance Fund and also takes over the functions of the Prison Labor Commission, and therefore makes rules and regulations for the labor of prisoners. In other respects it simply takes over the duties of the old State Board of Charities, the only difference being that it will prescribe minimum standards for children's agencies and it will require reports uniform in character from agencies that are not State institutions or institutions receiving State aid. With those two exceptions there are no changes in this measure, except bringing all those things together under one department.

Shall the bill pass finally?

"Section 3 Any person violating any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100) nor more than five thousand dollars ($5,000) or to undergo imprisonment of not more than five years either or both at the discretion of the court"

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the amendment?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—48.

Aron,	Davis,	Long,	Salus,
Barnes,	DeWitt,	MacDade,	Schantz,

NAYS—0.

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

HOUSE RECEDES FROM ITS AMENDMENTS TO SENATE BILL NO. 438.

He also presented communication from the House of Representatives, informing the Senate that the House recedes from its amendments non-concurred in by the Senate to Senate Bill No. 438, entitled:

An Act to empower cities of the third class to establish a firemen's pension fund to take property in trust therefor and regulating and providing for the regulation of the same

RESOLUTION RECALLING HOUSE BILL NO. 269 FROM THE SENATE.

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, Auril 5, 1921.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 269, entitled "An act to protect all persons in their equal rights regardless of race, color or creed, in places of public accommodation, entertainment or amusement and providing penalty for violation of the same" be recalled from the Senate for purpose of amendment.

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the same?

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Vare, will state his point of order.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I object to the resolution being considered and ask the Secretary to read the decision on page 1050 of Smull's Handbook, the decision next to the last on that page.

The PRESIDENT. The Clerk will read the decision referred to.

The decision was read as follows:

"A resolution having been presented to the Senate recalling a House bill, Mr. Lyon submitted the point of order, that said bill having been regularly presented to the Senate as having passed the House of Representatives, committed to the proper Senate committee, considered by the same and reported to the Senate, and having passed first reading and now being on second reading calendar, the position of the bill is such that the request of the House contained in the resolution could not be complied with under the rules of the Senate. Whereupon, the President ofthe Senate decided the point of order well taken and ruled the resolution out of order."

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, that decision fits this case exactly.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair sustains the point of order raised by the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Vare.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, it is true that Smull's Handbook does provide the data that has been given on page 1050, but nothing is said about the rules of the Senate in the resolution. What are the rules of the Senate upon which the Chair decides this point of order? And further than that, your calendar will show that this bill was submitted to the committee on March 30 and was reported out on March 30, within a few minutes from the time it reached the committee.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Schantz, will state his point of order.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, there is nothing in order but an appeal from the decision of the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair decides that the point of order raised by the Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Schantz, is well taken.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I am appealing from the decision of the Chair and I am submitting data in support of my appeal. I contend that the Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Schantz, is incorrect in taking the position that he does on the ruling that has been made by the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, will reduce his appeal to writing and send it to the desk.

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, if the Senator from Allegheny will consider for a moment he will realize that under no other rule of conduct could the legislature proceed to transact its business. If it is possible at any stage of the passage of a bill through the Senate for it to be recalled by the House, then the legislature would never know in which body legislation would happen to be. It is absolutely necessary for the Chair to sustain this point of order in line with the decision quoted, in order that the business of the legislature may be transacted in an orderly way.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair will certainly have to be governed by the rules and precedents before him in matters of this kind. Does the Senator from Allegheny insist upon his appeal?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, yes, I insist upon my appeal from the decision of the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, will prepare his appeal in writing and send it to the desk to be considered.

Mr. LONG. Mr. President, I would like to see that rule that requires appeals to be prepared in writing.

The PRESIDENT. Under parliamentary practice all appeals are required to be made in writing; the appeal is signed by the person appealing and one additional person. The Chair, however, will not insist upon the appeal being made in writing.

On the question.

Shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the Senate?

It was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. The decision of the Chair on the point of order raised by the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Vare, is sustained and the Clerk will inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

RECESS.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess until 4.30 o'clock P. M.

Mr. DAIX. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed.

AFTER RECESS.

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

BILL INTRODUCED.

Mr. DAIX. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to read a bill in place at this time.

Mr. McCONNELL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. H. Feldmann, offered the following prayer:

O Lord God of Sabaoth, heaven and earth are full of Thy glory and the warbling songsters of the forest give us the hint that we, too, should lift our voices in peans of praise to Thee for Thine infinite goodness and the daily dispensations of Thy providence. Make us mindful of all the great common gifts of life so freely given; the glorious sunlight that no man's gold can buy; the wonders of the forest; the majesty of the mountains; the vastness of the sea and the beauty of the heavens. Make us glad for these common things that we receive so freely and think of so little.

We thank Thee for all the blessings of the common life; for good homes; for loving mothers and faithful wives; for dutiful children; for consistent friends and wise counsellors; for the blessings that come through the guardians of peace; for all of the mercies that we receive so freely and value so lightly. Make us grateful for these things, and touch our hearts with a sense of Thy constant need and blessing.

And now, O Father, look Thou down upon some of the hearts of those that gather here this morning that are heavy because of sickness and the thought of death; the struggles of the sick-room and the cares of life, and as the night had to flee before the morning, so may Thy promises and blessings cause all sadness and sorrow to pass away in the sunlight of Thy love. Amen.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was not agreed to.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, when the resolution introduced by the gentleman from Lackawanna to recall House Bill No. 269 from the Senate, was presented at the desk and was read, I requested that the resolution be read for the second time, because there were very few members of this House who understood or heard what the resolution was about. After the Speaker had put the question and the House had voted upon it, a division had been called for before the vote was declared, and the Speaker refused to put that call for a division. Mr. Speaker, this motion that I have just presented was for the purpose of enabling the members of this House to intelligently pass upon the resolution which has been presented.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will state that the gentleman can raise a point of order on the Chair's ruling.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, the Chair ruled so fast that one could not keep up.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will again state that he will give the gentleman from Philadelphia a fair chance to raise a point of order on the ruling of the Chair.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, a number of us called for a division; not one, but a number of the members on the floor of this House want a reconsideration of that vote.

The SPEAKER. The Chair wishes to state that the resolution was passed before he heard a call for a division. The Chair will further state that he is perfectly satisfied to have the gentleman from Philadelphia raise a point of order on any supposed irregularity on the part of the Chair and will submit that question to the House if it is desired by the gentleman from Philadelphia.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, it is futile when the Speaker insists on ruling immediately and before a member has an opportunity to be heard.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman raise a point of order to that effect?

Mr. ASBURY. Mr. Speaker, as the sponsor of this bill I called for a roll call and the Speaker ignored me. I have no desire to except to the Chair's action as it effects the gentlemen on this floor and I don't presume that the Speaker or any one else in this House want to do anything but what is fair. However, I wish to say that there is no reason why we should not have a roll call as to why this vote should not be reconsidered. Mr. Speaker, we understand the situation of this bill—

The SPEAKER. The only question is on raising a point of order on the ruling of the Chair. The Chair is willing to recognize any gentleman at this time who raises a point of order on any ruling made by the Chair. When the Chair made his ruling on the question of the motion to reconsider the vote the "nays" were preponderant; there is no question about the matter.

Mr. ASBURY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to state to the Chair that I want to set myself right.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will again state that if any gentleman in the House desires to raise a point of order on his ruling on the question of the reconsideration of the vote at this time, or on any action of the Chair, the Chair will entertain such a motion.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order, and I would like to have the Speaker pass on it.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Phillips, will state his point of order.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the Chair to rule on this point: Can the House of Representatives recall a bill from the Senate after it has passed second reading?

The SPEAKER. The Chair will state that this is a concurrent resolution, a question for the Senate itself to determine. The only thing that has been done was to pass a resolution which is a concurrent one. It must be passed and determined by the Senate in concurrent action. The House has no record as to where this bill is.

Mr. PHILLIPS. We know where it is; it has passed second reading.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, if as you state, the House does not know where the bill now is, how could you entertain a motion to recall it from the Senate?

The SPEAKER. The only knowledge that this House has is that the bill is in the Senate, where it has been messaged after final passage in the House.

Mr. ASBURY. Mr. Speaker, I realize that I am put in a false position, and I realize that I have a burden which is hard to bear, but I realize also that it is my duty since the Speaker will not call for a division on the resolution, to raise the point and question the ruling of the Chair. I know that that puts me in an awkward position; I know that it puts me at a disadvantage before this House, but I feel that I have been put at the disadvantage in an unfair way, but yet as a man and a member of this House there is nothing left for me to do.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I have been a member of this House; this is my second session. The gentleman who is now the presiding officer, I have always found in every respect to be fair, and just in his decisions and what he does, but at this time I must take exception to his ruling. The Chair in this attempt certainly did not consider anyone in his ruling. Before the ruling ever was passed upon there were at least a dozen men calling for the yeas and nays on that resolution, but notwithstanding that the Speaker of this House in the face of all of that ruled that it had been carried otherwise, and denied the right of this House to have a yea and nay vote, which it had a right to have. The majority of the House is opposed to the recalling of this bill, it is unfair—

The SPEAKER. The only question now is the question whether or not the House desires to raise the point of order. The House is in control of its own proceedings. The Speaker cannot in any connection make a ruling that is contrary to the will of the House. The Chair now offers to submit the question on the point of order or any question that the membership of this House may have to submit and to permit the House itself to rule on the action of the Speaker.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to the point of order that there were several members of the House who called for a division of a yea and nay vote before the final decision. They were not heard by the Speaker, but they were audible to the other members of the House, and therefore I raise the point of order as to whether or not they ought not to be entitled to the privilege of a roll call.

The SPEAKER. The question so far as the whole action is concerned is determined. The only question is the point of order on the decision of the Chair as to the yeas and nays, on a viva voce vote.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. ASBURY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. ASBURY. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that the Speaker erred in his ruling on the yeas and nays, on the viva voce vote.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will submit the question on the point of order of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Asbury, to the House.

The Chair will ask the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Hess, to take the Chair.

MR. HESS IN THE CHAIR.

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, there has been more or less confusion in this House, in the Hall of the House this morning, while this matter has been considered, and it may be even now that the members of the House do not understand just what question is before them, so I take this opportunity to state to the members that the question is whether or not the ruling of the Chair shall be sustained. I submit to the members of this House who have served under the Speaker that he has been eminently fair and square on every proposition that has ever been submitted to this House. His ruling this morning clearly was fair—

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point or order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. GLASS. This being a point of order that is before the body, the only person entitled to speak thereon is the person who raised the point of order and the Speaker himself. It is debatable by nobody else—

Mr. DITHRICH. —and I ask that the Speaker be sustained on this question.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules that the gentleman from Philadelphia is out of order. He cannot raise another point of order while a point of order is pending. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Dithrich, will proceed.

Mr. DITHRICH. I have finished, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, this is not a question as to whether we sustain or do not sustain the Speaker of this House, it is a question within our own minds that the majority of this House were not in favor of recalling the equal rights bill from the Senate and vote on it again. I want to say gentlemen, that in the way the question was put and the submission to this House at that time that a lot of us did not understand it. We do not mean to go back on our Speaker's ruling, but the majority of the members of this House want to see the Senate go on record on that bill, and we don't want it recalled.

Mr. ASBURY. Mr. Speaker, in addition to what the gentleman from Clearfield has said, I want to say also that the question before this House, is not whether we shall repudiate the Speaker, but it is a question as to whether or not the members of this House who have stood up manfully and gone on record on this measure are going to permit people who are not members of this House to pass the buck to this House.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Asbury, please submit his point of order in writing?

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, when this bill was before the House, I was one of the members of this House that voted favorably upon this measure. There is something that has taken place this morning, with all due respect to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Asbury, that is of just vital importance to this House and to this Commonwealth as any legislation that has been brought before our attention this session, and that question is, shall we say to the public press of this Commonwealth and to the men and women who make up its citizenship that we recognize a Speaker of this House who is not qualified to pass upon a vote of this House. I cannot conceive, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of this House, why there is so much serious objection to this bill's coming back to this House. It passed with an overwhelming majority, it can have its consideration, and I feel that the man who considered it before will not fail it again. Let it come back and let it have its regular course, and if the amendments are satisfactory to the members of this House, let them consider them and pass upon them. Furthermore, it will go back to the Senate from which it will be brought and let then the Senate have its final action upon this measure. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I feel that it is the duty of the members of this House to have sufficient respect and courtesy for the Speaker of this House to support him in his decision. When the time comes when we cannot do that it is well time for us to adjourn this session of the Legislature and go back to our respective districts.

Mr. DAWSON. Mr. Speaker, when this bill came up for consideration I voted for it, just as I did in a previous session of the Legislature, but I do not think when I vote to sustain the Speaker on this question, that my vote could be interpreted as a vote against this particular bill. I therefore appeal to the members of this House to sustain the Speaker.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. Davis.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, yes sir.

Mr. PHILLIPS. I want to ask the gentleman from Indiana what the House or anybody else will gain by bringing this bill back to the House?

Mr. DAVIS. I really cannot answer that question. I do not know what is in the minds of the people.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Why are you in favor of bringing it back if you do not know?

Mr. DAVIS. Because I want to sustain the Speaker in his decision. I believe that we should.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Isn't it a fact that you want to protect your Senator from going on record?

Mr. DAVIS. Absolutely not.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, in my long service as a member of this body I do not recall a single instance where the House has refused to sustain the Speaker in his ruling, and I hope we will not refuse to sustain him at this time.

Mr. ASBURY. Mr. Speaker, I call for the yeas and nays on this vote.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I feel that I must vote to sustain the Chair. I do not want that vote to be construed as a vote against this bill. I voted for this bill at this session, I voted for it at the last session, and I will vote it again.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I can say sincerely that the vote against sustaining the Speaker on this matter hurts no more anyone than it does me. There is no one that has had more respect for any man than I have had for the Speaker of this House. As I said before he has always been fair, but there are two hundred and five other members of this House and I will say at the present time that for one I feel that the Speaker has slapped us in the face this morning with the ruling he has made. I, on the floor of this House, endeavored to give him an opportunity to change that ruling which he himself must know was a wrong ruling, and as I say it hurts me at this time to raise any question on the decision of the Speaker of this House, and yet I say with all due respect for these men who have spoken in favor of sustaining the Chair, I feel that the first hurt came from the Speaker himself when he slapped every member of this House in the face by not recognizing what they aked for. I am the last man on earth to sidestep an issue of this kind, when I feel it is my duty to stand by it. There are other members here and we deserve some respect as well as the Speaker of this House. I have endeavored to respect him and up to this time I have always known him to be absolutely fair, but at this time, sir, I am sorry to say that he absolutely refused and neglected, notwithstanding the fact that at least a dozen men were on their feet called for yea and nay vote.

The SPEAKER. The question before the House is on sustaining the decision of the Chair, when he ruled that the motion offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Glass, did not carry. Those voting aye vote to sustain the decision of the Chair; those voting nay, vote against sustaining the decision of the Chair.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Asbury and Mr. Alexander and were as follows:

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for its concurrence.

REASON FOR VOTE.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, I am in favor of the passage of the Equal Rights Bill in its present form, but do not consider my vote on the point of order as affecting the passage or non-passage of the bill itself. I construe the vote on the point of order raised as merely passing upon the Speaker's ruling on a viva voce vote. Aside from the question of the Speaker's fairness on rulings generally, I am in favor of upholding the Speaker's ruling on the viva voce vote in question. I therefore vote "Aye" on the point of order raised.

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 943, entitled:

An Act defining coal as a public necessity imposing certain duties upon persons copartnerships associations and corporations engaged in the business of mining coal or preparing it for market and providing penalties for violations

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Glass, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the sponsor just what the object of the bill is and what it is expected to accomplish.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I fear that my voice will not carry very far on account of a serious cold, but I can answer the interrogation of the gentleman from Philadelphia by saying to him that the provisions of the bill are very simple. The bill provides:

"It shall be unlawful for any person copartnership association or corporation engaged in the business of mining coal or preparing it for market to refuse to sell coal to a coal dealer or to any other person copartnership association or corporation."

The purpose of the bill is to eliminate, if possible, the middleman or broker. Prior to the war you men know that anyone who dealt in coal who had a coal yard was able to get his coal direct from the coal producer, or the person who prepared the coal for market. It was not necessary for him to go to a coal broker for the purpose of getting his coal. By reason of the brokers coming into existence the price of coal has gone up considerably. That is only one of the causes for the increased price of coal at the present time. The gentlemen of this House know what the price of coal was before the war; you know what the price of coal has been during the war, and what it has been and is at the present time. There has been no effort to reduce the price of coal as effort has been made to reduce prices in other necessities. My purpose in presenting this bill to you, as this is only one of a series of other bills which I have presented, is for the purpose of curing a condition that now exists and for the purpose of giving the consumer cheaper coal, if possible. I might say, further, to the gentleman that there are now pending, in the different committees of this House, bills relating to coal brokers and coal dealers; bills relating to royalties and bills relating to freight. There are many factors which go into raising coal to the present high price. We have endeavored to submit to this body proposed legislation which, to my mind, will cure the present evil that has existed for several years. I think, gentlemen of the House, that this is a good bill. It will help to eliminate a certain condition which prevails. It is not my intention to hurt anybody; it is not my intention to hurt the man who produces or markets coal. It is my intention to call the attention of those gentlemen to the fact that they must come down to sane and sound business principles and to prevent discrimination in the sale of coal. If we allow conditions to continue as they are now, there is no question in my mind when the fall season comes along and winter approaches that coal instead of being from fifteen to sixteen dollars a ton will be from twenty to twenty-five dollars a ton. I have been informed by a member of this House, the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Wells, when I introduced a resolution to investigate the price of coal, that at that time he was obliged to pay twenty dollars a ton for his coal. In other sections of the State it has been sold at from seventeen to eighteen dollars a ton. We in Philadelphia have been paying fifteen dollars a ton. I think we should do something to make it possible so that the people of this Commonwealth will be able to get coal, which is a necessity, at a reduced price from that which they are paying at the present time.

Mr. GREEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Glass, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. GREEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman how is it that the retail dealer cannot or does not buy his coal directly from the coal operator instead of from the broker?

Mr. GLASS. Because he cannot get it.

Mr. GREEN. Why not?

Mr. GLASS. Those of you who are acquainted with the coal industry know that there are about five or six of the large companies who produce from seventy-five to eighty-five per cent. of all the coal mined in this Commonwealth. The balance, from fifteen to twenty-five per cent., is produced by independent operators. The large producing companies only sell about five per cent. of their output to the people of Pennsylvania and they leave it to the independent operators to sell their coal to the dealers. Now, these independent operators, for some reason or another, have entered into a contract with a certain number of brokers where the entire output of anthracite coal has been turned over to these brokers. When a dealer would go to the operators and would say, "I would like to have some coal," the answer he would get would be, "We have no coal, but if you will go down to X. Y. Z. they will be able to help you." When that dealer went down to X. Y. Z., that coal broker would tell him: "Coal is very scarce; we may be able to help you if you will pay us a certain price. If you will pay us this price we will give you the coal." The coal dealer on different occasions has been obliged to pay as high as three dollars a ton premiums in this kind of a transaction. That is what I am trying to cure by this bill and some of the other bills which I have introduced.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman from Philadelphia, the sponsor of this bill, is much to be commended for the study he has given to the coal situation. I think that anyone who knows anything about the situation must agree that during the period of stringency last year, the profits of the middleman played hob with the coal market, but the reason I asked the question was because it seems to me this bill is trying to eliminate the middleman by legislation. I do not think, Mr. Speaker, that you can get rid of an economic situation by passing a law on the subject. The middleman is out of date at the present time in a great many lines of business, he is certainly very objectionable and unpopular in a great many lines of business, and I doubt very much whether the proper connection between the producer and the retailer can be made to become more intimate in this way. I doubt very much whether we can do it by legislation. That is the reason I asked the gentleman from Philadelphia for his explanation.

Mr. GLASS. To answer the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Edmonds, the purpose of the bill is not to legislate anyone out of business. The broker has just as much right to buy coal as the dealer, but the purpose is to enable the dealer to get his coal as I said a few moments ago. I have another bill in committee which provides what the commission of a coal broker shall be, but all this bill does is to make it possible for a coal dealer to get his coal from the mines.

Mr. BALDI. Mr. Speaker, if the only purpose is to permit a coal dealer to buy his coal directly from the mines I do not think we should take the time and pass such a bill. A coal dealer could always, and can at the present time buy coal directly from the mine, of course, during the past few years the conditions were different, there were a few men in between, but I do not think that if we were to eliminate them to-day it would reduce the price of coal. During the war there were large prices paid for coal, but at the present time the doors of all the coal operators are open to the dealer, and so far as the commission men are concerned I think they are actually disappearing.

Mr. DAWSON. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I want to call your attention to section two:

> "It shall be unlawful for any person copartnership association or corporation engaged in the business of mining coal or preparing it for market to refuse to sell coal to a coal dealer or to any other person copartnership association or corporation."

As I recall the gentleman from Philadelphia, the sponsor of this bill, said the purpose was to eliminate the broken and the dealer. I notice here that it makes it an offense if a coal company refuses to sell to the dealer. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia and ask him why he protects the dealer, if he does and why he wants to eliminate the dealer.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Glass, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, yes sir.

Mr. DAWSON. I want to ask the gentleman why he protects the dealer, and why he wants to eliminate him.

Mr. GLASS. I do not want to eliminate the dealer. What I did say was, Mr. Speaker, that I wanted to eliminate the broker, if possible. It is the middleman who has been helping gouge the public out of at least three or four dollars a ton in the price of coal.

Mr. DAWSON. Mr. Speaker, I would further like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will remark at this time during this interrogation, that under the rules of the House it is necessary to get the recognition of the Chair before the gentlemen address the House. Had some of the members gotten recognition of the Chair this morning during the dispute there might not have been so much misunderstanding. The Chair will ask the members of the House to bear that rule in mind.

Mr. DAWSON. Mr. Speaker, I have always kept that in mind. I would ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, if a broker is not a coal dealer.

Mr. GLASS. If a broker is not a coal dealer—he may or may not be. If the broker is a coal dealer he certainly could not be affected by this bill. This bill is intended to prevent discrimination and not to encourage discrimination in the selling of coal.

Mr. DAWSON. Mr. Speaker, I would further interrogate the gentleman. Will he please tell us what he means by "or to any other person."

Mr. GLASS. Any person, any other person, means any person who desires to buy coal.

Mr. DAWSON. I would further interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. The Chair does not desire to have to answer during the course of the entire course of interrogation, but when a gentleman is obliged to sit down and gets on his feet again before he has completed, he should get the recognition of the Chair. That is what the Chair desires to call attention to. There were a number of gentlemen this morning during the course of the important debate who got up and seemed to think they had the floor before they had the recognition of the Chair.

Mr. DAWSON. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, it is absolutely necessary in the anthracite region and probably so in the bituminous region to have the so-called broker. If it were not for the broker or middleman most of our colleries would be idle during the summer months. There is a big problem to move our tremendous tonnage during those times and particularly the prepared sizes. This bill would prohibit, or rather this bill would compel a corporation to sell all their prepared sizes, for instance, when they could not sell their steam sizes even if they had other customers who would take both. Gentlemen this bill is absolutely unnecessary and should be voted down. I would ask the gentleman from Philadelphia if he would agree to make a motion to have this bill sent back to his committee for the purpose of a hearing.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Dawson.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Dawson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DAWSON. I will, sir.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Lackawanna, inform the members of the House whether he has not at the present time in his committee two bills introduced by me, one relating to commissions received by brokers, and another bill relating to the coal dealer?

Mr. DAWSON. Mr. Speaker, the committee of which I am Chairman is in custody of the two bills to which the gentleman refers, and in reply I wish to say that the only sentiment for these two bills comes from the sponsor of the same.

Mr. GLASS. Isn't it a fact that on different occasions within the past two or three weeks I have asked you to report these bills out so that the gentlemen of the House might vote upon them?

Mr. DAWSON. That is true.

Mr. GLASS. Isn't it true you said, "No we are not going to report those bills out because we do not want to hurt the broker?"

Mr. DAWSON. That is not true.

Mr. GLASS. Will you state to the gentlemen of the House just what you did say to me in reference to those two bills?

Mr. DAWSON. I said to you there was no sentiment for these two bills outside of the sponsor of them and I did not think it was necessary to call them to the attention of the House, therefore, I thought they should stay in committee.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman. I desire to ask the gentleman from Lackawanna, whether one of these bills relating to brokers does not fix a maximum commission of three per cent. to be allowed the broker, where he sells to the coal dealer.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. DAWSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. DAWSON. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that the gentleman is not discussing the bill before the House.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, it is germane to the subject.

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that any private conversations between the two gentlemen are not germane to the subject. The point of order is sustained.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Glass, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GLASS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if it is not possible under this bill for a coal dealer who has the reputation of being a poor payer or dishonest in his business transactions, to arrest and put to the expense and trouble of a trial the coal broker or coal operator who refuses to sell coal to him.

Mr. GLASS. No, sir, Mr. Speaker, it is not.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. As I read this bill, in section 2 there is a provision which has been called to the attention of the House, which says: "It shall be unlawful for any person copartnership association or corporation engaged in the business of mining coal or preparing it for market to refuse to sell coal to a coal dealer or to any other person copartnership association or corporation." Then comes the proviso that "if any good reason exists for any such refusal, upon complaint made against him or them, the defendant or defendants shall be permitted to show the same, and may thereupon be acquitted of violation of this act." Then section 3 provides that a refusal to sell coal shall constitute a misdemeanor, and upon conviction he shall suffer certain penalties. Then under the proviso in section 2, if he is charged with this misdemeanor, he may plead the fact that this attempted purchaser is not an honest person or a person who pays his bills, or some other reason or excuse. But the point I noticed in this bill is that a dishonest person may force, because of the refusal of an operator or one engaged in the coal business to sell him coal, the arrest of that operators, when that proposed purchaser is dishonest and knowingly such.

Mr. GLASS. There is nothing in the act to that effect, and we should not read anything into the act that is not there. The act does not contemplate that. All that is contemplated by this act is to prevent discrimination, and we all know that any person who has not good credit certainly is not entitled to credit. We are not changing the business laws of this Commonwealth, or any other law.

Mr. DILSHEIMER. Mr. Speaker, I think the time has come when we should legislate for the public in general. It appears to me that the majority of the members of this House care more for the monopoly than for the poor and middle classes of people in this Commonwealth. It appears to me that when any question like this comes up in the House, it has always been for the benefit of the rich and the monopoly, but when it comes to upholding the rights of the poor and the middle class, it seems to me a good many do not want such legislation, and I believe the time has come when our eyes should be opened and we should legislate for the majority and not for the minority. We all know this is the biggest deal today in the State of Pennsylvania, the way the public is robbed, and the time has come when the members of this House should legislate for the majority and not for the minority. Gentlemen, I ask you to support this bill.

On the question recurring,

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, this is a Senate bill. If any person in the House is familiar with the provisions of this bill and the reasons for the very substantial increase in the number of employees it calls for and the increases in salary, I would be pleased to have him explain it to the House at this time.

Mr. A. S. C. MILLAR. Mr. Speaker, there is only one new employee under the bill, and that is the office of director. At the present time the president of the board has been appointed, with executive approval. The office of director is now made a legal office. The increases in salary are for the chairman, from three thousand to four thousand; for the office of vice-chairman, from twenty-five hundred dollars to thirty-six hundred dollars. For the secretary, from twenty-four hundred to thirty-six hundred, and for the executive clerk, from twenty-four hundred to three thousand. I can say that this bill has the approval of the administration, and that the Board of Moving Picture Censors is self-sustaining. In 1919 the budget of the board was $108,600.00, and for the same period the board collected $199,000.00 The budget for the year 1921 is $153,000.00, whereas the receipts during the past two years total $199,000.00.

Mr. WILLIAMS. As I read this bill, it increases the number of employees from twenty-five to forty-five. It increases the salary from $37,460.00 to $81,640.00. I feel that the members of the House are entitled to this information.

Mr. A. S. C. MILLAR. Mr. Speaker, I may say that under the Act of 1917 there were thirty-nine employees on the Pennsylvania State Board, and under this act there are forty-one. The new employees are a director and an inspector, and again I say the bill has the approval of the administration as it now stands.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, it is wholly unnecessary for me to take up the time of the House in enumerating these positions. There is an item of five thousand dollars in the bill, which provides that any additions to the employees enumerated above, the chairman may, with the approval of the Governor, appoint such additional employees as the work of the board may necessarily require, the salaries of such additional employees not to exceed in the aggregate the sum of five thousand dollars. That amount appears in the present law and is in this amended section. As to the number of employees that the five thousand dollars carries, I am unable to say. The bill is blind in that respect, otherwise it is as I have stated.

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it with amendments, in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1182 (Senate Bill No. 554), entitled:

An Act authorizing the holders of bonds of loan of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania series "B" issued under date of August second one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one to exchange the same for other bonds of the said Commonwealth and authorizing the Governor and the Auditor General and State Treasurer to issue new bonds in exchange for the same

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House. This is a bill that was spoken of some time ago in relation to the bill authorizing the payment of six per cent. interest on the road bond issue instead of four and one half per cent. on that bond issue. This is, as I understand it, for the purpose of taking care of a few rich bankers in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and give them a good investment on a long period at a high rate of interest. We have already, in the act passed in 1919, authorized the Governor, the Auditor-General and the State Treasurer, to sell these bonds in a certain way. That provides that the bonds are to be issued under the direction of the Governor and they shall be offered for sale at not less than par and by the Auditor-General and State Treasurer to the highest and best bidder or bidders, after due public advertisement on such terms and conditions and upon such open competition of bidding as the Governor shall direct; the manner and character of such advertisement and terms shall be prescribed by the Governor. Why should not this $11,800,000 in bonds be placed on the market and sold to the highest bidder? It was bad enough in the beginning when he raised that interest from a four and one-half per cent. bond to a six per cent. bond, but many of you believed at that time and many of you voted for that bill at that time because you believed when the time came for investing in these bonds they would be offered to the highest bidder, and here they now ask you to let them go out and let the members think of some other bonds, in the future, if they shall be sold. In other words I will read Section 2 of this bill:

Section 2 The Governor on behalf of the Commonwealth is hereby authorized to issue as of August second one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one bonds of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in an amount equal to the bonds filed for exchange with the State Treasurer as aforesaid bonds to be subject to the same terms and conditions as the bonds which are being exchanged except that the new bonds shall be for the same term and shall bear interest at the same rate and be subject to the payment of the same premium as the next series of bonds issued or to be issued by the Commonwealth All bonds issued under authority of this act shall be executed in the same manner as other bonds issued under said act of April eighteenth Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and nineteen as amended All bonds offered and turned in to the State Treasurer for exchange under the provisions of this act shall after the issuance of new bonds and substitution therefor be cancelled and thereafter all payments of interest thereon shall cease

Why, with the authority we gave them under the act of 1919 did not they place these bonds on the market and sell them in open competition to the highest and best bidder? That is the only way you should sell the bonds and that is the only proper way. It seems to me that this is going a little too far when they ask us now to agree that these bonds shall be sold in a different way from that in which they were to be sold before.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I am very sorry that the gentleman from Delaware has apparently failed to read, or has not read, or if he has read, does not understand this bill. This bill does not provide any such plan or purpose as the gentleman from Delaware points out. The bill itself covers a certain condition which existed some time ago. As we have heretofore heard, when the bonds of the Commonwealth, the highway bonds, were offered for sale there were no bidders. Then the Governor and his colleagues in the financial end of the Commonwealth business went to certain bankers in Pittsburgh and in Philadelphia and persuaded them to take $11,800,000 of the highway bonds. At that time there was a great complaint lodged of course by the bankers that this Commonwealth only allowed four and one-half per cent. interest whereas they could get more interest from bonds issued outside of the State and from private securities or from private corporations, but the Governor finally got them to agree and they took this issue of $11,800,000 at four and one-half per cent. If you will look on page 2 you will find these words: "With the understanding and promise that the Governor would recommend to the Legislature at its next session that the act of Assembly authorizing the issuance of said bonds be amended by changing the maximum interest rate fixed therein to six per cent. per annum and would further recommend to the Legislature the enactment of law permitting the holders of said bonds to exchange the same for other bonds of a longer term with a higher rate of interest." The bonds were issued for three and a half years. Now, the Governor is attempting to redeem his promise which was made at that time to the end that the highway program should not become stagnated. We got the $11,800,000 and went on building the roads of the Commonwealth with it and now these gentlemen are expecting the Governor to redeem his promise. These men were those who held $11,800,000 of bonds. If they wish to return them or give notice to the Auditor General they can do so by the second day of August next and they can surrender those bonds, and they give notice to do it unless they receive the bonds at a higher rate of interest, new bonds, in lieu thereof, the same as everybody who now buys bonds of the Commonwealth gets, and have a little longer time to run. There is nothing back of the transaction: it is a good business transaction. The Governor has tried to redeem his word and we should support him to the limit.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, those words of my colleague, having to do with the Governor "redeeming his word," sounds good. I am one who likes the term "redeeming a promise." That is what I am fighting for at the present time, for that same Governor to redeem his promise which he made not only to a few rich bankers of this Commonwealth, but to hundreds and thousands of people in the Commonwealth at the time the $50,000,000 loan was put through. I have heard him tell more than one hundred times and he has told me and he has told other people the same thing, that those bonds would never be issued for a higher rate of interest than four and one-half per cent. That is what I am endeavoring to demand; that is what I want him to do; I want him to keep his promise, never to have the State issue a higher rate of interest than four and one-half per cent. When this law was put through at the time that this $50,000,000 loan was put through he was electioneering as well as myself and he told the people of Delaware County that no good road movement could be done during the war period because of labor conditions and that the work would not be done until conditions were better. He has no excuse to come here and say that he is going to redeem another promise and I say that is not right; that is not the way it should be done. I want him to redeem his first promise before he starts in to redeem the second one.

Mr. WHITAKER. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry that the gentleman from Delaware takes the position he does against redeeming promises, but I am sure the rest of the House will not sympathize with him in that attitude. We all know that the rate of interest is necessarily higher now than when this bond issue was first authorized, and this House has already gone on record, the Legislature has passed a bill authorizing an increase in the rate of interest to be paid. I can see no reason why those public spirited citizens, bankers, who took the same at a disadvantage should not now be permitted to have their bonds redeemed for other bonds with an interest in keeping with those that will be subscribed for by the rest of the public. The author of the new bonds will now fix the rate of interest which will have to be paid and that will be fixed by a competition. They will be authorized by the board of which the Governor is a member. There is no reason in the world why those who already have bonds should not be permitted to surrender theirs and get new bonds at the same rate of interest.

On the question recurring.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with the information that the House has passed it without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1049, (Senate Bill No. 308), entitled:

An act authorizing county commissioners to appropriate moneys for the maintenance of duly incorporated organizations for the prevention of cruelty to animals

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, is there any member of the House, may I inquire, who can explain the reasons for this bill?

Mr. BLUETT. Mr. Speaker, I am somewhat familiar with the bill.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Philadelphia,—the acts seems to authorize county commissioners to appropriate money to private corporations. Now while these corporations are engaged in a perfectly worthy purpose, namely, the prevention of cruelty to animals, is it not a new provision of the law that the county commissioners shall appropriate public money to privately formed corporations that are administering some humane purpose.

Mr. BLUETT. Mr. Speaker, as I understand the purpose of this bill, it is that in some of the smaller counties, particularly communities that have humane societies, they are very much handicapped at times for the lack of money. Notwithstanding that handicap, they are performing a lot of services which are in the nature of police service, and it is for that purpose that the county commissioners may under this bill authorize, if they see fit, and make appropriations to these public bodies from time to time. It may be true that they are privately organized corporations, but they are entirely without profit and are doing a very noble work in protecting animals from cruelty.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, if the intention was that the county commissioners should pay the humane society for their services, I would be glad to vote for the bill, but if the intention is to establish the precedent, that money raised in the counties by taxation can be appropriated by the county commissioners to a private corporation, and that is all that this bill says, then it seems to me that this is an exceedingly dangerous precedence. Public money should be spent for public purposes, and under the supervision of public servants, and when it is passed over to private institutions or private corporations it seems to me that it starts the way for a raid on the treasury to which there might be no limits. Therefore it seems to me that this bill embodies a bad principle and personally I shall vote against it.

Mr. BLUETT. Mr. Speaker, as I said a moment ago, these may be in a sense private corporations, because they are run by private individuals, but anyone will say that they are run for a public purpose. They are certainly performing a public service in the various duties that they perform in different parts of the State. They are an adjunct to the police force in these different communities, and therefore I cannot see any harm in permitting the County Commissioners, if they see fit, on occasions of that kind, of making an appropriation to cover their expenses.

Mr. ALBERT MILLAR. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. WEAMER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER announced the "nays" appeared to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for, and forty-nine gentlemen having voted in the affirmative and sixty-three in the negative, the question was determined in the negative, and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, it would seem to me, coming from a rural county, that there is nothing harmful in this bill, but it might be very helpful. There is nothing mandatory in the bill, but it allows the county commissioners to help these societies, the societies that have a well-known character,—the assisting in the prevention of cruelty to animals. My experience has been that in many cases the only way to reach these fellows has been through the humane societies, and it is purely a matter of protecting the animals. Their agents act as constables and members of the police force. Why should not the County Commissioners have the privilege, if they see fit, of helping along in that case. I hope you will pass the bill.

Mr. WHITEMAN. Mr. Speaker, so far as this being a precedence is concerned, the gentleman from Philadelphia need have no apprehension. The county commissioners already appropriate county funds to private corporations. In support of this I might mention the Grand Army of the Republic and the veterans of the different wars.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen of the House, you will remember that this bill was before the House one day last week. It calls for a commission to prepare, revise and consolidate the existing general statutory laws, and defining the powers and duties of the commission, and so forth. I realize, gentlemen, that this is to the lawyers, to a certain extent, a very important thing, but it seems to me as legislators, at this time, it is more important for us to save a little money, if we possibly can. I am glad to see that the objection we made to it last week had a little reward, at least because the appropriation has been cut down from seventy-five thousand dollars to twenty-five thousand, a saving of fifty thousand dollars. But don't you think at this time, when people are clamoring for appropriations, when we have taxes, as I said several times before here, on everything possible with the exception of air,—don't you think it is important for us to try for two more years to get along without this? We have waited for a number of years, and we have done very well without it—I do not know of anybody who is not going along very nicely in the practice of law, even without this commission, and without this consolidation of the laws. Therefore, can't we try for the next two years, when times are as hard as they are, with people out of work and it looks as though we would have to tax them for everything that they use and wear,—don't you think we can save twenty-five thousand dollars more by defeating this bill, and letting it wait for two years more?

Mr. WHITAKER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House. The gentleman from Delaware is flattering himself unduly in saying to this House that he has saved the Commonwealth $50,000 on this bill. I do not know under what circumstances he would be able to justify that statement. When the bill was before the House last week it was postponed because of an inadvertence of the printer who had failed to make the amendments ordered by the committee. At that time the bill was sufficiently discussed and I think it is unnecessary to go into the merits of it at this time. The facts are these: The bill provides for a commission to revise and consolidate the general statutory law of the Commonwealth either by codification of particular subjects or in such other manner of arrangement as to the commission shall seem best and to be done in as economical a way as possible, and to cost the State as little as possible. At that time the Governor suggested the fact, when the bill was introduced, that some of the officials of the State be required to do a portion of the work so that instead of a commission, as originally designed, of three members at a stated salary, it now provides for one commissioner, the other two commissioners being the Attorney General and a Deputy Attorney General who will serve without additional compensation. The amount of money provided for clerical work has also been reduced and an effort has been made to economize, but not because of the objections of the gentleman from Delaware. The amount is now only $25,000 but it will be sufficient to start the work and I think everybody knows that the work ought to be started and the sooner it is accomplished the better. A sample of the work is that in the code which we adopted under the head of decedents assets in the last Legislature, and it is a valuable and useful work. This commission has undertaken to make a codification of all the statutory law of the Commonwealth and the sooner it is done the better.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman must have misunderstood me in my argument. I don't think that I have flattered myself in anything I have been able to do in this House. I think that I have one thing that I can compliment myself for, and that is that I have stood here and tried to do my duty. I said this House had saved that in the bill since it was before the House the last time, and if the gentleman from Chester County wants any credit for it, I am willing to give him all the credit for saving that $50,000. All I care for is that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania saves it; that is what I care for and that is what I am asking for.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

An Act to amend an Act approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws page forty-six), entitled "An act fixing the number and salaries of clerks and other employes in the Auditor General's Department

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. Long. Mr. President, if the next Auditor General has been correctly quoted in the public print, in favor of enacting a policy of economy, it seems to me that he ought not to be embarrassed in that course by the passage of this bill, and for that reason I personally, at least, am opposed to the bill.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I would like to say in reply to the Senator from Franklin that is exactly what this bill does. It is a bill in the interest of economy. This bill shows a net saving of $17,800 per annum to the State of Pennsylvania on the figures prepared by the Auditor General-elect, and it is a bill prepared by him, or under his jurisdiction, and I think it is an entirely meritorious bill in the line of saving money for the Commonwealth.

Mr. LONG. Mr. President, all that I see in the bill is that salaries of certain officers are to be raised. How is that in line with economy?

Mr. EYRE. Mr. PRESIDENT, it wipes out a number of employees that are there now who are carried on a contingent roll and places the work which was performed by these men on the contingent roll in the hands of the three employees provided for in this bill.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like to be for this bill, if it is a department bill, having confidence in the Auditor General and also in the Senator from Chester. Mr. Eyre, but I am frank to say to the Senator from Chester that there is nothing in this bill that would indicate a saving to that department. The bill states on page 1 line 9. $5,500, on line 12, $4,500, and on page 2, line 4, $7,500, line 7, $7,500, and an assistant deputy that is not named in the old act at $6,000. Now if there is anything in the bill that would show that the Auditor General has no right to employ additional labor and if there is anything in the bill that shows that the people who are getting this increased salary must do this work, I fail to see it. I looked at the bill pretty carefully last night. I had no chance to talk with Mr. Lewis or Senator Eyre about the matter. but I can't see anything in the bill that it is a matter of economy. I would like to support the bill if you can show me.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I can only repeat what I have already said, that the Auditor General showed me a list of employees in the Department who were carried on a contingent roll that he proposed wiping out and that these employees were to perform the work that has heretofore been performed by the employees that I have just spoken of that are carried on the contingent roll, and I think that every member of this Senate will agree with me that the propriety of carrying employees on a contingent roll has been a subject of discussion in this body for many years. I believe for one that it is a custom that should be gotten away from and should be abolished, and that is exactly what this bill does. Of course the bill does not say so. The bill hardly would say so, but the bill provides for three employees and we must take it on the word of the Auditor General until he proves that his word is not worthy of confidence. He assured me that this roll will be cut down $17,800 per annum, or a total saving for the two years of approximately $36,000, and I, for one, believe that he is a reputable man whose word can be taken and I believe that he will carry out exactly what he says he will carry out, and that this bill will provide him with the employees to carry it out.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, April 6, 1921.

The House met at 11 o'clock A. M.

The SPEAKER (Robert S. Spangler) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. H. Feldmann, offered the following prayer:

O Lord God, four years ago today we ceased to be mild protestants against the depredations of the German hordes, drunk with power and blinded with pride, and became the open protagonists of what we believed to be justice and righteousness and truth. Thou hast crowned our banners with victory, and we have to thank those who were willing to put themselves into the breech for this.

The tumult and the shouting has ceased, but for many this war is not yet over. We think of those that wear the golden star above the heart. With grief we think of those who are the inmates of the sanatoria, whose light of reason has been forever darkened. We think of those who have no longer their sight. We think of the armless sleeve. We think of him who is brother to the crutch. We think of him who has been poisoned with the gas and must languish throughout the rest of his days.

Look down and be merciful upon them all, we beseech Thee, and let not a great and mighty nation, blessed as none other is blessed, have it ever said that a republic is forgetful of those who defended her rights. Amen.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE PENSION RETIREMENT FUNDS.

Mr. VICKERMAN offered the following resolution, which was twice read, and laid over under the rules:

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

House of Representatives, April 6, 1921.

Whereas, at each session of the Legislature, bills are introduced for the purpose of providing pensions for state, county and municipal officers and employees upon their retirement from office, each of these bills imposing a mandatory obligation upon the state, counties and municipalities, and

Whereas, the Legislature cannot during the busy weeks of its session ascertain the conditions and facts surrounding these demands, and deal fairly with those who would receive the benefit of legislation of this class and also with the taxpayers whose money is appropriated, and

Whereas, the existing pension laws for state, county and municipal officers and employees differ greatly as to conditions under which benefits can be granted and as to the methods by which the necessary revenues are obtained, and

Whereas, it is the sense of the members of this Legislature that all public pension funds should be placed on a sound, uniform and equitable basis, under a fixed state policy, therefore, be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur) that a commission of five members be appointed, two by the President of the Senate and three by the Speaker of the House, to be known as the "Public Service Pension Commission" to make a survey of all pension and retirement funds for the officers and employees of the state, and the various county and municipal governments, to investigate the question of the desirability of establishing a uniform, equitable system of retiring state, county and municipal employees, and whether a proper standard can be established for fixing the basis of such pensions to the end that all shall be dealt with fairly, the said commission to report their findings, together with any recommendations thereon, at the next session of the legislature, and

That the members of said commission shall serve without compensation and the expenses of said commission shall be limited to five thousand ($5,000) dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary and that the same be provided for in the next general appropriation bill.

RESOLUTION RECALLING HOUSE BILL NO. 253, FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Mr. KOOSER presented the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, April 6, 1921.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 253, File Folio No. 943, entitled "An act to amend an act approved the fourteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws three hundred twelve) entitled 'An act providing a system of government for boroughs, and revising, amending and consolidating the law relating to boroughs,'" be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RESOLUTION DISCHARGING THE COMMITTEE ON RAILROADS FROM FURTHER CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE BILL NO. 946.

Mr. RINN offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 6, 1921.

Resolved, that the Committee on Railroads be discharged from the further consideration of an act entitled "An act to provide for the abolition of railroad grade crossings," House Bill No. 946, Printer's No. 886, File Folio 3493, referred to said committee on March fourteenth, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. RINN. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, in the early part of the session, I introduced a bill for the abolition of grade-crossing, the same bill that was passed by this House two years ago. This bill was referred to the Municipal Corporations Committee. Several weeks after that bill was introduced, I met a stockholder of the railroad who asked me whether I had again introduced the same bill.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. DAVIS. It is absolutely impossible to hear the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will request the members to be in order and request the Sergeant-at-arms to see that silence is maintained.

Mr. RINN. Mr. Speaker, in regard to this bill, I met a gentleman who is a large stockholder of a railroad in this State, and he asked me whether I had introduced the same bill, and I said, "yes." I asked him what he thought of it and he said the bill was no good. I asked him if he was in favor of the abolition of grade crossings, and he said, "Yes," but he said, "Not in accordance with your ideas." I asked this gentleman what his ideas were, and I am frank enough to tell you. He told me, "You ought not to ask me this because it might be used against me," but he said "You have got a big business man as Governor, go to Governor Sproul and take it up with him," and that is just what I have done. I took this matter up with the Governor and spoke to him about it and he suggested that a bill be drawn up on a percentage basis, and I asked the Governor what his idea was. He said about two percent for main lines only, and that is the bill that is before this House now. I ask you gentlemen to help put this bill on the calendar.

Mr. SINCLAIR. Mr. Speaker, I have Mr. Rinn's bill in my possession. The sub-committee has been very busy and we have not had a chance to take this matter up. We decided that we would report the bill back to the main committee next week, and I hope that the members will vote this motion down.

Mr. RINN. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Sinclair promised two weeks ago the very same thing he is promising now. The Chairman of the Railroad Committee has been busy running over time and again and asking him for the bill. He sometimes tells him he does not know where it is and other times he will tell he has not got it with him. Gentlemen I hope you will stand by me on this resolution.

Mr. SPROWLS. Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen of the House, this bill as you all know is a very important proposition. After the bill had been referred to another committee and then returned to the House, it was referred to the Committee on Railroads. Due to the fact that it is such an important measure, I placed it in the hands of a subcommittee, consisting of three of its members, and they, therefore, have that bill. I feel that we ought to have quite a good deal of time to consider this situation and go into it thoroughly. I feel sure that they will report this bill out sooner or later. Therefore, I would ask the House to sustain the Committee in this regard.

Mr. RINN. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen, I appreciate the kind words of the Chairman of the Railroad Committee. I know that he is an honest man and he means well, but he knows Mr. Sinclair and he knows well that this session is coming to a close. Next week may probably be too late and the Senate may probably have a hearing on this bill, and I am going to ask you gentlemen to discharge this committee and let us go to bat.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Rinn and Mr. Richards, were as follows:

BILL ON THIRD READING (SPECIAL ORDER).

The SPEAKER. The hour of 11,15 A. M. having arrived, the House will now take up the special order set for that time.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1192, entitled:

"An Act imposing a State tax on gasoline sold in this Comuonwealth except for the purpose of resale providing for the collection thereof providing for the distribution and use of the revenues derived from said tax making an appropriation and fixing penalties

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DAWSON. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, this bill and the three following bills are part of the Administration's revenue raising plan. The proceeds of this bill are specifically dedicated to highways, and one-half of the receipts are to be returned to the various counties of the State. The other bills, of course, are to take care of the additional expenses which will be added to the State on account of the teachers' salary increases and other departmental increases. This particular bill taxes all gasoline sold in the State, either for gasoline used in the State or sold outside of the State. I hope that the members of the House can see their way clear to vote for this measure.

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lackawanna.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Dawson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DAWSON. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BOLARD. Is it our understanding that this bill is to be so amended that the fifty per cent. of the fee will be paid directly into the county treasuries instead of to the State Treasurer and take the chance of getting it back again?

Mr. DAWSON. If there is any doubt as to whether this money can be sent to the various counties, we will agree to have this bill amended by the Senate committee.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, may I further say in answer to the gentleman from Crawford that outside of a possible doubt in his mind as to whether the counties may receive this money from the State Treasurer—which I think is a doubt that is not well taken, since the Act specifically so declares—there is Supreme Court authority for the payment of money under this system. It has been called to my attention this morning that there is a doubt as to the constitutionality of the act because the fund is dedicated first to the State and then by the State to a subsidiary division of the Government. That matter has been absolutely cleared up by the Supreme Court under the Act of 1915, known as the Highway Act, where the fund was given to the State and then by the State to be paid to the Highway Department for the purpose of the maintenance of the highways. The Supreme Court has ruled that that provision is perfectly constitutional, and gave authority for it, so I take it that all constitutional questions are absolutely waived aside, all constitutional objections are waived aside. Under the authority of our Supreme Court, and no doubt all of the counties, under the provisions of this Act, will get their one-half of the proceeds of this tax.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lackawanna

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Dawson permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DAWSON. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STERLING. Can you tell how much revenue this will bring to the State of Pennsylvania?

Mr. DAWSON. The estimated revenue is three millions of dollars.

Mr. STERLING. How much would it cost the State to collect this tax?

Mr. DAWSON. Mr. Speaker, I cannot answer that question.

Mr. STERLING. Are you able to estimate how much of the three millions of dollars is represented in the use of gasoline for motive power?

Mr. DAWSON. I cannot.

Mr. STERLING. Isn't it also a fact that besides for the purpose of motive power, gasoline is used extensively in the State of Pennsylvania for other than motive power, for instance, cleaning, either metal work or materials?

Mr. DAWSON. That is very true.

Mr. STERLING. Is it the purpose of this measure to tax all users of gasoline where that gasoline is used for other than motive power?

Mr. DAWSON. The bill specifically states that a tax of one cent a gallon is hereby imposed on all gasoline sold in this Commonwealth.

Mr. JORDAN. Mr. Speaker, there are many members who have received protests, I presume, against this bill. I am one of the members. But if I were to vote only for those bills that had the unanimous approval of my constituents, so far as revenue raising is concerned, I would vote for no bills whatever. We manufacture gasoline in our part of the State, and I use a little gasoline myself. I have a tractor, two or three gasoline engines, and am unfortunate enough to have a car. I am willing to pay my share. We must have roads that we may be able to use our cars. This tax will be very widely distributed: it will amount to so little to each individual that it is scarcely worth our consideration. We will eat a good dinner and pay for that dinner almost as much as the tax would amount to for each individual. Coming from the section that manufactures gasoline, and feeling that we must have this money for the building and maintenance of our roads, I am in favor of it.

Mr. WHITAKER. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me in considering this bill we ought to have our minds not merely on the subject of this bill itself but on the entire program of special order bills, which are on the calendar for us today. The question before us is, "Shall we raise sufficient revenue to meet the needs of the State in order that we may make appropriations to those things to which we desire to make appropriations. It is not simply a question of whether we would like to place a tax on gasoline, but the thing on which we should have our minds at this time is whether or not we want to make appropriations for the betterment of the schools and to meet the obligations of the State in the payment of teachers' pensions and increased salaries, and to make appropriations for the Mothers' Assistance Fund for the improvement of roads and all of the various progressive measures for which the Commonwealth is expecting us to make appropriations and with which we are anxious to help, and it is that which we should have in mind when we decide how to vote on this whole program of revenue measures this morning. It is inconsistent for any member of the House under the circumstances to vote for those appropriations for which he desires to vote, and at the same time not to support this revenue raising program, and it seems to, therefore, we should all resolve, once and for all, to support the whole program, or not to support any of it.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lackawanna.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Dawson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DAWSON. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Dawson, will you tell us what the probable amount will be available for appropriations for the next two years?

Mr. DAWSON. Will the gentleman please repeat his question?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Can you tell us what probable amount will be available for appropriation for the next two years?

Mr. DAWSON. I respectfully refer you to the chairman of the Appropriations Committee.

Mr. ALEXANDER. I understand that you are the chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. DAWSON. You are correctly informed.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Can you tell us what the balances are at the present time in any of the amounts appropriated two years ago?

Mr. DAWSON. I cannot.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Can you tell us the amount in the treasury at the present time that will be unexpended, the balances in the various appropriations for the past two years?

Mr. ALEXANDER. You have in your committee, the Ways and Means Committee, a resolution calling on the State Treasurer and the Auditor General for that information, have you not?

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. James A. Walker, will state his point of order.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is, that the question by the gentleman from Delaware is not on the bill under consideration.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is sustained. The gentleman from Delaware will confine his interrogation to the bill.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, the interrogation is to find out what appropriation is available for the next two years.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has ruled on that point, on the point of order raised by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. James A. Walker.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, all right, sir. I desire to ask the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Dawson, if I understand his reply he knows nothing about the financial condition of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. DAWSON. Mr. Speaker, I refer the gentleman to the decision of the Chair.

Mr. ALEXANDER. I do not understand the decision of the Chair on that question.

Mr. DAWSON. As I understand the decision of the Chair, the gentleman from Delaware shall confine himself in his interrogation to this bill.

Mr. ALEXANDER. The decision of the Chair is not relative to a resolution which you have pigeon-holed.

Mr. DAWSON. That bill, of which you are sponsor, is still in committee, and the only one who is asking for a hearing on that bill is the sponsor of it.

Mr. ALEXANDER. I will not proceed on that line any longer. I am asking the question if you have any knowledge whatever of the financial condition of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. DAWSON. That has nothing to do with this bill.

Mr. ALEXANDER. This is a revenue raiser and I desire to interrogate the gentleman further.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Dawson, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. DAWSON. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I understand that this bill is a revenue raiser. I want to ask the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Dawson, if the purpose of this bill is not to get sufficient revenue to meet the appropriations for the future—that is true, is it not?

Mr. DAWSON. For the State and the various counties.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Does the gentleman know the balance in the Treasury of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania?

Mr. DAWSON. No, sir, neither do I know what the balance is in the various county treasuries.

Mr. ALEXANDER. You will stick to your assertion that the financial condition of the Treasury of this State has nothing to do with this bill, will you?

Mr. DAWSON. I have answered that question.

Mr. ALEXANDER. I understand that you are not a lawyer.

Mr. DAWSON. No, sir.

Mr. ALEXANDER. You have never been accused of that crime at least. As far as the question of the constitutionality of this bill is concerned I do not want to ask you anything about that.

Mr. DAWSON. All right.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, as to the question of the constitutionality of this bill, I am sorry that I have to differ from my friend, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Walker. As I read the constitution, after this fund becomes a part of the revenue of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and goes into the Treasury there is no way designated in this bill where any part of that fund may be earmarked as the money of the different counties. The sixteenth section of article three of the Constitution, found on page 300 of Smull's Hand Book, for the year 1920, especially provides that "no money can be paid unless it is especially appropriated." The Constitution further provides to what purpose it may be appropriated and none of these purposes are mentioned in this bill. I say, there is no way possible to earmark that money that is paid into the State Treasury as money that belongs to the different counties of this Commonwealth, and, therefore, the sponsors or the parties concerned who are favorable to this bill, if you notice, are very careful to place into this bill this provision:

"Section 6. The provisions of this act are severable and if any of its provisions shall be held unconstitutional the decision of the court shall not affect or impair any of the remaining provisions of the act. It is hereby delared as a legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provisions not been included therein."

This is only more or less of a sop to the members of the counties in this House in order to persuade them to vote for this bill, leading them to think that the counties are going to get something back. Now then it has been stated that if this is unconstitutional and if it needs revising that it may be done in the Senate. I suppose when this bill gets into the Senate they will have something to say as to whether it shall be revised or not. We have noticed only within the last forty-eight hours that the Senate did have something to say whether or not this House in any way whatever controlled that body, and properly so, and they will say the same thing when this bill comes to them. You have had your opportunities in this House to make your amendments and you cannot restrict this House as to what it will do. This House with its two hundred and six members are able to control their proceedings and I say if there are any amendments to be made they should be made in this House, which is fully able to attend to its own business. That is all I propose to say on the question in that respect.

There is another question, far more important, perhaps, because you men all know that if under the provisions of this act the courts decide that this bill is unconstitutional, if the courts decide that this money cannot be paid to the counties, that won't stop them from collecting the tax; just the same every dollar will be collected and the people who have to pay it will have to lose it out of their own pockets just the same, notwithstanding that they were deluded with the idea that they would get some of it back, at least, for the improvement of their own country roads.

There is another reason why I am opposing this bill; And that is the same reason that I have had all through the session of this Legislature. That is just as was shown by the chairman of your Committee on Ways and Means; just as was shown by the chairman of the Appropriation Committee some time ago in being interrogated under the report of the Appropriations Committee here—none of them know how much money will be available for the next two years and nobody in this House can tell at the present time how much it will require, to carry on this extravagant and expensive administration of the State's affairs. Nobody can tell after the great gorge of salary-raisers; after the great gorge of the increased impositions; after the great gorge of new positions, nobody can tell what it is going to cost to carry on the administration of this State government. I want to ask you now, as a body of sensible men, are you going to put an additional tax on your people? I do not agree with my friend from Lawrence, with all due respect to that gentleman, as I have very high regard for him, when he says if he does not vote for measures it is because some of his constituents ask him not to vote for them and under those conditions he would not vote for anything. I agree with him to this extent that if you get a protest from back home—when you get a protest of that kind it means something, and when that protest comes to you in the way that it has come to me, and when that protest comes and you tell them in answer to it "Why what are the teachers going to do; what is the mothers' pension fund going to do; what is the forestry program going to do if we do not raise these revenues?" They come back to you with the question which has been before you almost every day of this session. And while I have stood here and endeavored to get you and persuade you to get down to that fundamental basis at the beginning, for some reason or other you have not agreed with me so far as your votes are concerned, although outside of this House, fifty per cent. of the members have told me they agree with me in everything I have done. Go back to the men at home and the same question comes from that constituency which is composed of business men who are carrying on their own business, and they say to you, why didn't you think of this at the beginning of the session instead of raising salaries of men to six, seven and ten thousand dollars a year and higher than that, instead of creating an office that is absolutely of no use whatever at a salary of eight thousand dollars a year; instead of appointing commissions with an extravagant amount attached to them, why didn't you think of us back home on these important things at that time, and why didn't you cut down that extravagance? Ah! everyone will say to you again, everyone will say to you again, during the last few years every man that has ever had any business ability whatever has known that the country has been extravagant, that money has been almost beyond being able to obtain except in real emergency cases. Every business in these United States has been curtailed, every great improvement has been backed—that is, I mean to say, has been deferred until some future time when the dollar instead of being worth forty-five cents is worth one hundred cents; and those great improvements that are so necessary, the railroads, the greatest institution of the country, all those conceptions of the master minds like Mr. Atterbury, every one of them has been postponed until such a time that the dollars would be worth one hundred cents, and when the wage would be down to a proper basis, and yet for some reason or another, this Commonwealth has seen fit to go along with its millions and millions of dollars of improvements. All this beautifying that they talk about of these capitol grounds, worth millions of dollars, that have been here years and years, and the people of this Commonwealth heretofore for years have come here to see and have said that you have the most beautiful capitol in the country, and I am proud that they are able to say that, and if we had all the finances, if we had money enough, and it was hanging on the trees and we had plenty of it I would say go ahead and make it more beautiful still if is possible. But I protest against these revenue-raisers, from one end of it to the other, because as we all know we have been raising salaries of men who as far as I know have all been seeking the office in the beginning have asked to be elected to the office, have asked to be appointed to the office, and then they have come in here and asked that their salaries be raised from one thousand to two thousand and even ten thousand dollars to the fabulous salaries that they receive, when the poor man back home today, many of them without shoes to wear, with their families half fed, and no work at all and almost in every industry where they are only working two days a week, and we continue to raise these fat offices to fabulous salaries, I tell you, you will have to account for it. Thank God it will not be me, because I have raised my voice as long as possible against this extravagance and you have not seen fit to help me. It is no pleasure for me to do this. It is no pleasure for me to fight two hundred and six personal friends of mine. That is not my nature. I would be willing to agree with these principles if they were right, and if I could not help it, and if I didn't think of those men back home today that are hunting and seeking work and doing their level best to earn a living for their families and their children. If it was not for that I would say go on, but I say now this going on with the extravagance as we have in the past, it is wrong, this raising of salaries of these men who if they do not like the jobs can get out and we can get men just as good to fill their positions, that could save just as much for this Commonwealth as these men have saved, but instead of that we have raised their salaries and we have made new positions. My suggestion would be to this House either to defeat this bill and all of these bills or postpone them till a certain time when we can get down and get business down to a sane basis, to a basis that every sane business man in this country would approve of, get down to a basis where we know what our expenditures are going to be, and know what it is going to cost to run this Government and know how much it will take to do it and know how much we have to appropriate, and how much it will require to carry on this Government; and until we shall know how much will be available for the future, and until we get that information and can answer those questions,—and I would suggest that we ask for it by resolution,—some of you ask for it if you do not want me to ask for it. I do not care who gets it so long as we get it, and so long as we get down to a sane, sensible business basis. That is all I care about. I do not care for any credit. I have never been after credit in my life, and never will be. But I am here to do my honest duty as I swore to Almighty God I would do it, and I propose to do it as long as I have breath for speech or hands to work or feet to stand on. I care not for the ridicule of the House or anyone else or any of the members of the departments. I do not care how much the chief executive or others ridicule me, how much they laugh. I do not care how much the Secretary of the Executive lobbys this House against me. I do not care anything about it. The only thing I see is my plain duty, and I will do it as I see it. If I am wrong as I see it, then I am wrong and I will be responsible for it, but I propose as long as I have breath in me to fight against this damnable extravagance and this imposition of taxes upon the people at home which should never be imposed. I ask therefore if the sponsor of this will not propose that it be delayed until we can get the accounts and know where we are at, and see the way by the light of day where we are walking and where we are going, if he will not consent to do that, then I ask you to defeat them, and then if it is necessary let us get these accounts and recess until those accounts come before us and we can act as plain, honest, and intelligent citizens.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that this session is too near its close to any further postpone the consideration of administration revenue raisers. When two eminent advocates such as my friend from Delaware and my friend from Philadelphia disagree on the constitutionality of this measure it would seem to me quite unlikely that this House would take upon itself to defeat this bill because of any constitutional question. During this session you men have heard of the standing the Supreme and Superior Courts of this Commonwealth have. They are the judicial departments, and it is their duty it seems to me and not our duty to pass on the constitutionality of this bill. It seems to me therefore, Mr. Speaker, that this House should support this present measure under consideration and to at least advance it to the Senate where because of the smaller size of that body less disturbance and less disagreement may occur. For that reason, Mr. Speaker, I move you that the previous question be put.

The SPEAKER. The motion is unnecessary as no person desires to speak further.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken.

Mr. ZOOK. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The SPEAKER. The roll will be verified.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third readi

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CHAPLIN. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I assume you gentlemen think this bill is a revenue raiser. In a sense it is, but in my opinion the State will receive no funds finally for its treasury, after the cost of collecting this tax is deducted. As a matter of fact, the gross receipts of this industry, which has no protection from our State, is $2,500,000.00. Of that the State exacts five per cent. The State will receive approximately sixty-two thousand dollars, to be collected through the Auditor General's Department, and in my opinion, this tax could not be collected with less than approximately ten men in this great Keystone State. Our Auditor General has told us in order to get efficient employees in his department and get men to do their work as it should be done, it is necessary to pay them at least ten thousand dollars a year. I do not question this remark of the Auditor General. I believe it is correct. There are many men in this State who would be delighted to receive a job of that kind for six or eight thousand dollars a year, but we will assume that this is correct and that it takes ten thousand dollars a year to pay these gentlemen to collect this tax and to take care of their business in the manner in which the work should be done, and it would cost the State more for this tax collecting than for the amount the State would receive, sixty-two thousand dollars. As a matter of fact, it would cost one hundred thousand dollars to collect it. There are many industries in Pennsylvania which we could tax where it would not inflict a hardship upon those that are being left go for some purpose or other. I know not what. I assume it is the active interest of the men lobbying in and about this House. It is high time that the members of this Legislature are setting their foot down on the lavish expenditure of public funds. There are hundreds of jobs in these State departments that could be entirely eliminated, and the money could be used for the Mothers' Assistance Fund or for educational purposes. These particular things are badly in need of funds. I believe we should pass the revenue bills for the purpose for which they are needed. The educational program we should support. Good roads should receive the support of the members of this House. We have to have them, but this bill is absolutely uncalled for and I hope that you gentlemen will defeat it.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, the same remarks I made on the previous bill I desire to refer you to on this bill. I am not going to burden you with stating them again, but in line with my friend from Cambria, and as many of you know, the Hon. Samuel Lewis was before that league—what is its name—the Legislative League—I nearly said the League of Nations.—I am not saying that in any way to ridicule it, because it is a very important committee of this House. Mr. Lewis was before that committee yesterday and he told you, as an occupant of the Auditor General's office, that there was extravagance throughout every department, almost, in this Commonwealth; that there were men on the payroll who have never been at Harrisburg. I have been informed, and if God will only spare me I am going to find out about it, if not in this legislature, then after the gavel has been brought down in this House; because the people of this Commonwealth are going to know. They are asking questions now and they are entitled to know. If we cannot receive this information here in this House to give it to them, we are going outside of this House to get it, and I am giving you warning now, we are going to rid the Commonwealth of this kind of stuff. I am not referring to the Hon. Samuel Lewis, the Auditor General,—thank God for men like him, for I know him, and I know that in the next two years no man will have to stand here on the floor of this House and ask him for any information on these questions because that information will be here as far as he can give it. He tells you right out that there are some people here who should not be here. He tells you how in the next two years the men will do their work and will not be influenced from the outside. I have implicit confidence in him, and every man who knows him knows what he will do. He tells you that the payrolls of this Capitol are padded, and he tells you, and I know the case,—the information has come to me,—of a man in Chester county who has been on the payroll since last December receiving six dollars a way, and who has never been near the Capitol since he was appointed. A number of other cases have been reported and I am trying to find out about them. There is the case of a man who took a trip through the West with his family, and the expense was charged to the Educational Department, and that was one of the things we were asked to pay for in the Deficiency Bill. That is the information that has come to me, and it is my intention to find out the truth about it. If you vote on these revenue raisers the people will question you about them and you will have to answer them later on. They will find out about it. The people will find out if the things are not correct in these departments, either from the departments or from some other source. They will ask you why you are protecting this misuse of the money, and why we are not compelling these people to answer their questions.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, one of the peculiar things in the debate that has just transpired is called forth by the remarks of the gentleman from Cambria who eulogized to the skies the new Auditor General, whereas the gentleman from Delaware throws him down to the bottom of Tartarus, by telling us about a man in his department receiving six dollars a day and never being seen at the Capitol. I do not know why this is, when one says that he is right, in his wonderful explanation of revenue, and the other says that it is not so. Here are two horns between which we can go and go safely, by the passage of this measure. The gentleman from Cambria tells us that this bill will only bring $65,200.00 net to the State. He is telling us these figures, I take it, because he has been in conference or in consultation or has had information given him by the men who are interested in this sort of advertising. It looks very much to me as though these men have already decided how much they are going to account for, regardless of what the next Auditor General, Mr. Lewis, will do. I agree with the gentleman from Delaware that Mr. Lewis will give this State a one hundred per cent. efficient administration. I also noted the article in the newspapers this morning, to which he referred, and I noticed he said that he is going to rid the State of a lot of jobs which in his opinion are not properly filled. I do not agree with the gentleman from Cambria when he talks about ten thousand dollar men. That might have been true during the high period of the war, but that has gone by, and many and many a man there is in this State who would be very well satisfied to secure a position in the Auditor General's office at a salary a great deal less than one-half of ten thousand dollars and perform the work that this office needs. It looks to be, from the statement of the gentleman from Cambria, that these gentlemen are figuring on their returns precisely in the same way as they figured their income tax report to the federal government. They have already figured beforehand what expenses are going to be deducted, but this bill gives the Auditor General the power, and the Auditor General has proven it in the mercantile license tax, that he has been able to secure thousands of dollars which the merchants of this State have attempted to cheat this State out of, and I know that Mr. Lewis will go the limit in securing the income obtainable under this act. If you will take a moment and look at the sheet sent to us from the Association of the National Advertisers, Incorporated, of New York city, you will find that there is a great deal of income in this State, and it will also perhaps be the means of reducing some of those eyesores that we have on our highways and make the highway a little more beautiful. But the main point of this bill is not to tax an industry out of existence so that he cannot make any income. The main point is to take a few cents from him and put it into the State Treasury, for the very purpose that the gentleman from Cambria calls our attention to in helping out the Finnegan program on education; in helping out the Mothers' Pension Fund. This argument about creating jobs and increasing salaries is all beside the question, because that expense is taken from the general income of this Commonwealth, as it exists today. These bills are intended to help in the educational program, in the Mothers' Pension program and in the other eleemosynary thoughts that the administration has in mind. I am going to ask you gentlemen to support this program and to vote for this bill and put it over.

Mr. DILSHEIMER. Mr. Speaker, in reference to this bill, it is mostly aimed at corporations that are not existing in the State of Pennsylvania; they are outside corporations but doing business in this State. I know from my own experience that there are a considerable number who are outside corporations and it is not more than just and proper that the State of Pennsylvania derive some revenue from the money earned by these corporations in the State of Pennsylvania in this line of business. I believe that this is a just bill in the State of Pennsylvania and that Pennsylvania has a right, a just right, to receive some money from their pockets which they make in our State. I will ask you to support this bill.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. James A. Walker, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman, does this bill exempt the agricultural interests from tax?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. As I read the latter part of section 1, that is the purpose of the bill.

Mr. PHILLIPS. But it does not say that?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. The wording of it can be very easily considered and remedied.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Have you any data by which you feel that the gentleman from Cambria County was not correct in one of his statements?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. I have the data from two sources; one is from the Governor when he informed us on that point and I was present.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Who was there when he made that statement?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. I was there and accompanied by others at that time and we knew that the revenue would amount to $950,000, and I also have it from a letter to the Governor from the Association of National Advertisers and I am satisfied that the figures given there and the figures given by the Governor are not even a modest figure.

Mr. CHAPLIN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia, a very few moments ago, said that it would be a very easy matter to secure an employe in a department of the Auditor General for a much less salary than is now being paid. I agree with him that there are many thousands of people in this Commonwealth who would be glad to sands of people in this Commonwealth to-day who are without a job and there are many thousands of people in this Commonwealth who would be glad to take a job at from three to five thousand dollars a year. But the purpose of the argument that I have made is this: They have absolutely no protection by the State; like other incorporated concerns, there are various circuses who come into this Commonwealth but who can go where they choose, and individuals can go where they choose without paying a cent of tax. It is an imposition on the part of those who are trying to do a legitimate business; on the people who try to produce and then we try to impose a tax on men who are trying to do a legitimate business and have a man from all sections of the State come in and undermine him. If the original bill that was presented here in previous years had been introduced to pay so much a foot, where the money that was received from the advertising was paid and the money would be collected by the borough, then we could get some revenue, but this way it is simply a job creator and no money will be placed into our Treasury.

Mr. DAWSON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Chaplin, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHAPLIN. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. DAWSON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Cambria, does he know that the bill was amended to read instead of "ten cents a square foot," to be "a tax on the gross receipts" with the practical approval of the advertisers. The chairman of the Ways and Means Committee suggested that inasmuch as they considered ten cents a square foot tax unjust, if they would approve of a tax based on the gross receipts rather than to have it on the basis of ten cents a square foot—does the gentleman know that?

Mr. CHAPLIN. Yes, sir, I knew that, but the final purpose of the bill does not supply any money to the State Treasuries.

Mr. DAWSON. Mr. Speaker, I introduced this bill at the request of the Governor. At the hearing on this bill when these gentlemen made the statement that a tax of "ten cents a square foot" would practically put them out of business in this State and also, that it was unjust, I suggested a "tax on the gross receipts" and they said that it would be much fairer and accepted that change.

Mr. JORDAN. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House. Let me say at the outset that I represent no one on this bill but myself in the utterance I am about to make. Gentlemen, I stand for economy as much as any member in this House, but we are citizens of Pennsylvania. Pennsylvania is a great State; this is a great business institution and it takes money to carry it on. I am not in favor of spending one penny more than is necessary, but if our schools and our roads are not standing well in comparison with other states because I don't pay sufficient taxes, I would hide my face. Gentlemen, the State of Pennsylvania does not pay much per capita, not by one-half the per capita of other states around and about Pennsylvania. The State of Pennsylvania, I believe, is one of the states in the Union that pays less per capita for education than all but six states in the Union, and they are all south of Mason and Dixon's line. I am from the south, but I am not in favor of taking Pennsylvania down south. I am not proud of the fact that Pennsylvania stands twenty-first in the educational standard. I hide my face when it comes to that, and I wish to say that I am in favor of raising enough revenue to pay the bills of this State. If the logic of my friend from Delaware would be reduced to its final analysis, it would be to close the capitol for a year and keep every penny of revenue out in order that we may clean up. I am with my friend Alexander on economy, but I trust our officials, and if we have the goods let us put the goods up. This is a big business institution. We have got money in Pennsylvania second to no state in the Union, so far as riches are concerned and so far as schools are concerned and so far as running the business of the State is concerned it is our duty to do it right and I have nothing to say as to the coming officer or the past officers of the State. I have only this to say, let us be men and deal with this as business men. That is the way you run your private business. You are not afraid to spend a penny to enhance and enlarge your business. Neither am I. I say "Economy," but penny wisdom is pound folly. I want our schools to stand where they ought to stand and all the rest of our institutions. I say that I am going to vote for this bill, and I will face my constituents even though they turn their faces against me, but I will be able to say I want to have our institutions at least as big as this State is.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that we are flooded this morning with oratory. We have so far considered two bills and I feel confident that all the speeches made in the House this morning have not changed a single vote. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, in order that we may be able to do something and extend the calender, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by the following: Messrs Haws, Whitaker, James A. Walker, Phillips, Cook, Dithrich, McGowan, Dilsheimer, Baldi, Jordan, Curran, Dunn, Conner, Heffernan, Franklin, Bluett, Sowers, H. Smith, Drinkhouse, Bromley and others.

The SPEAKER. More than twenty members having joined in moving the previous question,

On the question,

Shall the main question be put?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I want to protest against the treatment of the Speaker to me as a member of this House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will state that he has been more than lenient and respectful to the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Alexander, which is more than the treatment the gentleman has accorded the Speaker himself. The Chair will state that the gentleman made remarks this morning that might have caused serious trouble. In addition to that the Chair will say that when the motion for the previous question is made, it not only closes debate but it can take a member from his feet while he is speaking. The Chair has been exceptionally considerate to the gentleman and exceptionally liberal in recognizing him at all times. The Chair trusts that in the future the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Alexander, will be as respectful to the Speaker as the Speaker has been to him.

Mr. ALEXANDER. In reference to that remark, if there is anything that I have done, I know not what it has been, that has been disrespectful to the Speaker, I desire before this House, every member of it, I do not go behind doors, I humbly apologize. I say now I not only respect the Speaker, but I respect the position that he holds, but I say further that the honorable gentleman, the Speaker of this House, looked at me every time before anybody else was recognized and knowing I was on my feet to speak for some reason or other, and notwithstanding the high respect I have for the Speaker, in every instance you refused to acknowledge me. I am quite aware of what you say about the previous question, but I was standing on feet demanding recognition before any speaker, after Mr. James A. Walker sat down. I had the answers to the questions Mr. Walker asked, and after he sat down and had completed his remarks I was on my feet demanding recognition and, Mr. Speaker, you know you looked directly at me and then recognized somebody else.

The SPEAKER. The Chair wishes to say to the gentleman that it is the prerogative of the Chair to recognize whom he pleases, and the gentleman has during the debate this morning taken up more time than any other member on the floor of the House.

Mr. ALEXANDER. That is my privilege, I take it, sir, as a member of this House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has his privileges, too, if you will permit the remark.

Mr. ALEXANDER. You are responsible for yours and I am responsible for mine, sir.

RECESS.

In view of the fact that there are two special orders to be considered the Chair makes the suggestion that the House take a recess until 3 o'clock if that is agreeable to the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will declare a recess until 3 o'clock this afternoon.

AFTER RECESS.

The House reconvened at 3 o'clock P. M.

The SPEAKER (Robert S. Spangler) in the chair.

Section 6 This act shall take effect on the first day of September one thousand nine hundred twentyone.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I deeply regret, in rising to oppose this bill, to be in any way a party to anything that will embarrass the Governor's program for raising revenue. I have listened intently to the gentleman from Lawrence, Mr. Jordan, when he stated that it is absolutely necessary to raise revenue for the elevating of our schools, and I believe that the members of this House with whom I had the honor to serve in the "nineteen" session will remember that I voted for all constructive legislation, but I believe that this bill does not merit the consideration of this House because it vitally affects an industry,—or I might say a business,—which is vitally essential to the public at large. We are going through a program of reconstruction, and if we are to believe that the interviews that have been granted by the distinguished senior Senator from Pennsylvania, Mr. Penrose, that there should be a co-operation on the part of Congress and the Legislatures in helping business thrive rather than to annoy it by adding a burden of taxation upon them, and if we are to believe from the articles we have read in the newspapers that the great railroad systems throughout the country are asking their employees to receive a reduction in their wages, in some particular cases as much as twenty-five per cent., does it not seem that we should at least fall in line with that program by not adding further burdens on the list of business, which is doing its part and doing it manfully. Every theater, every moving-picture house has co-operated with the government and with the State in every great drive that has been made for humanity. They have co-operated in helping to get money in order that it might be sent to the various parts and sections of the world, and if my information is correct, I might enlighten the members of this House with the information that the very music which is played in the moving-picture houses and other amusement places is taxed, per capita, a tax is put on every seat in the place, and in addition there is a tax on films. I have made an itemized list, which I believe to be correct. For example, the business today pays a State capital stock tax, a State tax on corporate loans, a mercantile tax, a federal special tax on seats, federal capital stock, federal income tax on excess profit, a federal tax on admissions, and a city and borough license tax. I believe we have about reached the conclusion to follow the policy of our distinguished President, Mr. Harding, who, in the course of his inaugural address, stated that business should be helped, business should not be hampered, and in conclusion he said, "Let us have more business in government and less government in business." Why would not the same rule apply to the State of Pennsylvania? Let us have more business in the State and less State in business, and I believe that we can consistently vote this bill down, and still allow the Governor to raise his necessary revenue.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, I voice the sentiments of the preceding speaker. I say that the people of Pennsylvania are being taxed until it has almost become a burden, and in reply to my good friend from Lawrence, Mr. Jordan, I will read what Commissioner Connelley has to say in regard to the moving picture business: "The motion picture business is one of the best institutions this world has ever seen. There isn't anything like it in the way of education, in fact, there isn't anything like it anywhere. The people in the show business can give to the community the best entertainment in the line of motion pictures and the best education that it is possible to give." If that is the case, then it is the duty of us people here, as members of the House, to support such institutions, and give to the people, our children, your children, and my children the right to visit a show without placing an additional burden upon them. I ask you, gentlemen, to vote this bill down.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I have nothing to say in addition to what I have already said on the other two bills, but in answer to the remark of the gentleman from Lackawanna this morning, in which he said that the bill-board people had no objection to this bill, I have long since recognized this. The moving picture people, the bill-board people and the gasoline people have no objection to it. A gentleman walked through the House this morning who is interested in the production of gasoline. I asked him if he was interested in that bill and he said, "No; what do we care? You fellows pay for it." What do they care? It is the people afterward who pay this tax. Everybody knows that. It is the same thing as in any other business. The tax is put on and the people pay for it, not the bill-board men and the moving picture men or the producers of gasoline. If there is a tax of one cent a gallon, you and I pay for it, not the people in the gasoline business. If there is a tax on advertising, the bill-board people don't pay for it, and if there is a tax on moving pictures, the moving picture people do not pay for it.

Mr. BRADY. Mr. Speaker, I think of all the revenue bills before the House today that this bill is the most meritorious. It imposes a tax on what is really not a necessity. If the citizens of the State of Pennsylvania should find the price of admission to the moving picture houses raised because of this bill, I would imagine, if they stayed away a week or two, that the prices might come down because this bill imposes a tax of one per cent. on the gross receipts, and it would be rather difficult to find how they could make the price of admission higher to the citizens and not collect three or four cents for themselves. During the coming year the moving picture industry will collect in the State of Pennsylvania, or receive, about eighty millions of dollars. Most of these moving picture corporations are foreign corporations. Most of the money they get in this State goes from the State, and it is but fair, when we consider the height to which this industry has risen and the prices which they pay to their stars and the prices which they charge for admission in the big cities, that such a bill as this should be on our statute books. The income to the State of Pennsylvania it provides for the two fiscal years would be approximately $1,600,000. There is no need for me to state further how much the State is in need of revenue. You have heard it very eloquently described this morning. We think that if we are going to impose a tax on something let us impose taxes on what is not a necessity. I believe that it is a proper bill for us to consider and a very proper bill for us to pass.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, there is one good thing about this bill, and that is the absolute good faith of the sponsor of the bill when he presented it. I have always been opposed to this bill, but I realize that it opens possibilities, in many elements of the bill, which could be made a real source of revenue, a practical source to contribute to the State Treasury. I have discussed the bill with many members of the House and have agreed with some and disagreed with others. Many have decided that the bill in its present form is without merit. I have spoken to quite a few men on the other side, in the Senate, and I have confidence in their judgment and in the administration. I believe that more money is needed and believe, if my friend Alexander is right, and I am not sure that he is right in a great many ways, yet I have great respect for his good faith and if we are victims of circumstances, of a system which is wrong, it will have to be corrected. I believe that a great many men of this House are opposed to this present bill. I am going to vote for it only because I have faith that the bill will be whipped in shape on the other side and because I feel that the Governor and the Governor's friends should have the entire program carried out and whipped into shape. We are late in the session; there is little time to spend. If we delay action on the bills it may be that if revenue is needed we will be without it unless some action to carry out the program of the administration is taken. I am opposed to pay money to any plan, the Finegan or any other, unless we have the money, and if these bills are passed and sent over to the other side we will know how much money is needed, and it may be when the bills get to the Senate those who are opposed at present to raising even additional revenue, they will be able to get a constructive program of revenue raisers. Therefore, even though I feel that this bill contains no other merit than the good faith of its sponsor, I will vote for it. There may be some here with confidence in the Senate to bring about a constructive program and whip it into shape as it should be. I am not opposed to paying legitimate taxes and we are all willing to pay taxes when we know for what purposes they are levied and to what purposes they are going to be used. I feel that the bill is a bad one and I know and have faith in the fact that it will not be finally passed in its present form and, therefore, have faith in the action of the Senate that they will whip it into an improved shape.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I am in entire accord with the expressions of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Golder. I am not in accord with the provisions of the bill and the same feeling that I have is voiced by a great majority of the delegation in this House coming from Philadelphia. It is not our purpose to hinder the Governor or his administration in his program as outlined to this body. We hope that when this bill together with the other bills reaches the Senate that the Senate in its wisdom will advocate passing that which is good in this bill and see what is meritorious in the other bills in order to be able to find sufficient revenue so that this State will be able to take care of the different institutions and the school system, for which appeals have been made from time to time. For these reasons there will be no opposition to this bill by the members of the Philadelphia delegation and I hope and expect that every member from Philadelphia will support it.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Brady, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BRADY. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman, does this bill affect county fairs?

Mr. BRADY. Mr. Speaker, it is understood according to the bill that this does not apply to charitable institutions. In other words, if they are not carried on for profit, they would in all likelihood be exempt.

Mr. PHILLIPS. County fairs are supported by the taxpayers of the State of Pennsylvania. We understand them to be educational institutions and, not being a lawyer, I want to know whether we would come under that or not in the State fairs. I do not want the State to contribute money to county fairs and then turn around and tax them again.

Mr. BRADY. The county fairs are established for educational purposes and not for profit and, therefore, in all likelihood will be exempt.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—[illegible].

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER VOTE.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 695 was defeated, be reconsidered.

Mr. CATLIN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WHITAKER. Mr. Speaker, this is a motion to reconsider the vote by which House Bill No. 695 was defeated. This bill provides for the raising of revenues through an increase of taxation on decedents' estates, and was just defeated by the House a few moments ago. I want to say for the information of the House as the merits of the bill were not discussed at that time, that it is actually the most important in the matter of the amount of money involved of this entire revenue raising program and without it the whole program is a failure. We have spent a great deal of our time this week in discussing methods of raising sufficient revenue to carry through the progressive program inaugurated by this administration, and which this Legislature no doubt is anxious to carry through. This program has been carried through successfully up to this point, but the fact is that the amount of revenue which is raised by the [illegible] is inadequate and will not accomplish that which we had in view. The total amount [illegible] in the former bills which have been passed has been over $4,000,000 as I understand it, and this bill is the only actual revenue raiser—

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, the motion now is to reconsider the vote by which this bill was defeated. The merits of the bill cannot be discussed at this time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has always ruled that the merits of the bill are always under discussion on the question of a motion to reconsider.

Mr. WHITAKER. This bill provides an increase in the rate of taxation of decedent's estates. In the case of direct inheritance it raises the rate from two to three per cent. and in the case of collateral estates it raises the rate from five to seven and one half per cent., so that in the whole it is an increase in the rate of taxation on all decedent's estates of fifty per cent. It involves no other change whatever in the existing law. The method of calculating the amount due, the method of administering estates and everything else is exactly the same as it was before. Last year the amount collected from decedent's estates by the Auditor General was an amount slightly in excess of ten million dollars. If that were increased as it would be by this bill, fifty per cent., next year the increase would be five million dollars. That is the substantial part of this revenue raising program, and all that we have said and all that we have done by our votes and by our actions this morning is to the effect of raising more revenue for the purpose of carrying out the [illegible] program. All the other progressive measures would fail and become useless unless this is included in the program.

There are minor objections, and unfortunately there are some objections which we all feel for voting against this measure, but they happen to be unavoidable. The Constitution requires that taxation shall be uniform, and therefore it was impossible to include in this act the suggestion of many persons that an exemption be made of estates of less than five thousand dollars. The sponsor and everybody interested in the bill certainly would have been glad to include the exemption of some estates if it were possible to do so under the Constitution. The fact is that taxation must be uniform and at the present time it is uniform and as the laws stands now it has not been found to be any hardship. Ninety-five per cent. of the amount which is collected each year is collected from the larger estates, and out of this ten million dollars last year, one estate paid two and one-half million dollars, all the rest of it came from the larger estates, and that which will come from the small widow's estate, the estate which a man leaves to his family is small in amount. We would be glad to exempt those estates, but the fact is it amounts in the total to a very small item after all.

This bill was not introduced at the last moment and merely to make a revenue program. It was introduced long ago, early in the session, because I was under the strong belief that it is after all the logical and practical way to raise revenues for the State. It takes it not from the business man, to interfere with his enterprise; it takes nothing from the man because of his energy and his earnings, but it takes it, practically all of it, from the persons who did not have such an estate before. It takes it from the one who has received a legacy from possibly a distant relative, and it only deprives a man of a share of an estate, which up to that time he never had and therefore the loss of which he cannot feel. I wish, gentlemen of the House, you would consider this carefully, realizing that if it is defeated the whole program of revenue raising legislation is gone, and I hope you will support the bill.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I hope that you vote down this motion to reconsider this bill at this time unless the sponsor will agree. I say that because the motion was made at this time only in order to finally defeat the purpose of the bill. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, Mr. Stadtlander, of Allegheny wants finally to break up the program of raising revenue which would seriously affect the educational program of this State. For that reason gentlemen of the House, it seem to me the motion of Mr. Stadtlander should not prevail.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire whether or not if this motion to reconsider is voted down or defeated does that defeat the bill?

The SPEAKER. That kills the bill. If it is the desire to vote upon this measure again

Mr. EDMONDS. If this motion prevails, the bill will again be under consideration?

The SPEAKER. Yes sir.

Mr. GLASS. As the Speaker has just explained to you, if you vote down the motion to reconsider the vote by which this bill was defeated, you will kill the bill, and you will not only make it impossible to re-enact legislation of this kind in this House, but it will be impossible to introduce legislation of this character in the Senate, because, as I understand the law, no revenue raising bills can originate in the Senate, but must originate in this body. Now if you men in this House feel that you want to turn down the Governor's Program, you may do so and vote against the reconsideration of this vote, but I hope that every member in this House will see his way clear to vote to reconsider the vote and put the bill again on the calendar and then pass this bill. I ask the members to vote aye on the motion.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, like every other member of the House of Representatives I vote for new taxation with considerable reluctance. I have voted for them all to-day, because the program for advancement is necessary for the Commonwealth and we cannot have a program of advancement without new taxation. For that reason the motion should prevail even if we do not vote at the present time upon the bill, and even if the bill itself may be perhaps amended for then there will be an opportunity to meet the suggestion in some quarters of the House on direct inheritance taxes and may be an increase of the collateral inheritance tax, but if we vote down this motion to reconsider, then the question of raising money out of inheritance taxes is dead for this session, and with these revenue raisers dead for this session it seems to me that the whole program of educational advancement must fail. Now I confess that I am terribly interested in the efficient administration of the State's affairs, and I am very much interested in an economic administration, but I am more than ever interested in seeing to it that this public school program goes ahead. Therefore, for myself I shall vote most earnestly for a reconsideration of the vote which will give every member a chance to digest this plan for raising revenue.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, in the confusion of the moment I urged the voting down of the motion by Mr. Stadtlander. I want to be properly understood to say that you should vote for that motion.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I want to compliment the members of this House on voting against this bill, and I want to say to you men, stand by the vote and let us defeat it again. For these reasons, Mr. Speaker: We have before us or have in committee at the present time, bills that place a tax on the manufacturing industries of the State of Pennsylvania. We have other bills there putting a tax on the natural resources of the State. We should not be asked to tax the widows and orphans who cannot come here and appeal the case. Is that what you want to go on record as doing? I want to say that we have good revenue raisers, revenue raisers that will provide for the school system. It is all bosh this talk about the school system of Pennsylvania. In the first place, the first bill you passed to-day will not give you another cent in the treasury of the State,—not a cent. Half of it goes to the Highway Department, and that department has received its appropriations. This is in addition to what they have been given, and the other half goes to the county. The other bill, the bill-board bill, will not raise a cent over five hundred thousand dollars in the State. That is according to their own figures. We have it here at sixty-two thousand dollars, but we have figured it down to about forty-five thousand dollars. This bill now, according to what Auditor General Snyder told us this morning, the present bill brings approximately eleven millions of dollars. Who wants to get up here to-day and say that another per cent. will give us twelve million dollars additional? Can any person stand up and prove that statement? We do not want to go against the Governor's program, we want to carry it out; we want to carry out the Finegan program and the program for the maintenance of our several departments of the State like it should be carried out, but for God's sake let us be men and put the tax where it belongs, on the manufacturing interests and natural resources of the State.

Mr. WHITEMAN. Mr. Speaker, there must be at least forty members absent from the House this afternoon, according to the roll. I say, these forty men ought to have a say on this motion and have a right to be heard. Let us reconsider it. Then the bill can be postponed and the gentleman can press his manufacturing tax and his other taxes, but if we vote down this motion now, the bill is dead for all time.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I will take just a moment to reply to the gentleman from Clearfield. He comes before us this afternoon, and after a careful lack of analysis tells us this bill increases the income by one per cent., and he quotes the Auditor General as saying so. I cannot see where the Auditor General ever could make such a statement, because this bill does not so provide. This bill provides that the direct inheritance tax shall be increased one per cent., so that in an estate of five thousand dollars, after you have deducted the cost of administration, the cost of burying the dead, the tombstone for the dead, and the other deductions and charges, you pay a one per cent. increase on the net balance. This is not an increase on the entire amount that the dead leaves. It is an increase of one per cent, above what is now called for under the act of 1917 on the net balance, after the deduction of certain charges allowed by law. And I think that an increase of fifty dollars on a five thousand dollar estate is not very much of an increase. Besides that, this bill provides for an increase of two and one-half per cent, on the collateral inheritance tax on estates that fall to brothers and sisters and uncles and aunts, those not of the direct blood of the decedent. There is an increase of three and one-half per cent, and that three and one-half per cent, increase has been calculated to amount to twelve millions of dollars, and that is conservative. This bill is intensively important in carrying out the educational program of this Commonwealth. It is one of those bills that has been looked upon by the Executive as necessary to carry out that plan. If the motion of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Stadtlander, prevails, you simply clean out twelve millions of dollars, and I wish to say to you that since the act of 1917 has been enforced, I have had no complaints, in quite a number of orphans' court matters, from any of my clients when they come to pay that amount. The gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Whiteman, has called the attention of the House to the fact that there are forty members absent. This is important to them as well as to us. Therefore, my thought is that we reconsider the vote by which this bill failed on final passage, and then immediately put it on the postponed calendar, to be considered next week, so that the entire House may know what this bill is about.

Mr. GOODNOUGH. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that this bill which has just been defeated, and which as has been suggested in the discussion developed by the motion that it might be possible to so amend the bill that it would overcome the opposition which has been presented. It surely seems to me, Mr. Speaker, as one who voted against the bill, that opportunity should be given to amend the bill so that every objection can be overcome, and for that reason I trust this motion will prevail.

Mr. WHITAKER. Mr. Speaker, I am glad to take up the suggestion of the gentleman from Cambria and suggestions made to me since this discussion has been going on, and say to the House that I have no objection to having this bill reconsidered and amended in such a way as will meet the objections of a majority of the members. I understand there are a great many minor defects that can be altered so that it will meet with the approval of the different members and if the House will consider the bill and will agree to a motion that it be postponed for the present, I say to you, as sponser of the bill, that I am perfectly willing to consider these amendments and make every effort to make it perfectly satisfactory to the members. I do not think you want to be put in the inconsistent position of voting and speaking in favor of the educational program and of all the other programs, of the same character, and then turn around in the same breath and voting against a revenue measure which will make this program possible. I do not believe any man wants to be put in that inconsistant position, and I believe it is the sense of the House that we would like to have this tax raising measure put in such shape that we can again bring it forth, and I ask the members to support this motion. Then a motion can be made for the purpose of placing the bill on the postponed calendar and we would then go into the consideration of the amendments.

Mr. OGLE. Mr. Speaker, I hope that the motion to reconsider this vote will prevail. I think we would be making a fatal error to put this measure beyond further consideration. It is of vital importance to the Commonwealth that this educational program, which is being demanded by all classes and in every election precinct of the Commonwealth, should be carried out, otherwise we are going to hear from our constituents. As was remarked by the gentleman from Lawrence, in his speech this morning on another measure. It would be inconsistent for us to vote for the good roads program and for the educational program and for the reforesting program and for the other constructive and progressive measures designed by the administration, and then to calmly and thoughtlessly take away the sinews by which these measures are to be carried through. Now there is not a gentleman who voted against this bill who has a greater objection to it than I have myself. I am very much opposed to this increase in the collateral tax or the direct and collateral tax. As has been urged hereby the gentleman from Clearfield, you are taxing the widows and the orphans. That, gentlemen, is a condition that exists by reason of the present language of our Constitution, which prevents us from having a graduated tax. Now, the gentleman from Union, in talking to me this morning, said he had prepared or had already introduced a law,—it is on the calendar,—providing for a change in the Constitution which would enable us to make a graduated tax, that is, we could exempt small estates, say five, ten, fifteen or twenty thousand dollars, as may be the judgment of the Legislature. Now the gentleman from Clearfield says that he hoped that the motion to reconsider will be voted down because he has a bill that he proposed to bring in here to tax the natural resources and the manufacturing interests of this State. Well, we don't know what the fortunes of the bill of the gentleman from Clearfield are gong to be, because it will have to run the gauntlet of this House and Senate. Now, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Walker, has made a wise suggestion, and if we follow it every gentleman will know whether he is for this bill or not. I plead with you to vote for the reconsideration of this measure and put it upon the postponed calendar for the present.

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, I am glad that the motion to reconsider this vote is made at this time. There was no discussion of the bill before we voted on it finally. I think if there had been that the votes of quite a number of the members of the House would probably have been changed. The discussion that has followed since this motion was made has cleared up a number of points about which some of the members seemed to be in doubt and, possibly, after reconsideration, it may be in view of the readiness of the sponsor to sit down with the opponents of the bill and, if possible, agree upon amendments. Therefore I think, in all fairness, he should be given that opportunity and I hope that this motion will prevail.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my motion.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Stadtlander, withdraws his motion. Does the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Catlin, who seconded the motion, withdraw his second.

Mr. CATLIN. Mr. Speaker, I will withdraw the second.

The SPEAKER. The motion having been withdrawn, it is not before the House.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER VOTE ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Mr. MARSHALL. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed on final passage, be reconsidered.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. There can be no reconsideration of a bill immediately following another reconsideration without some other business intervening.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE BILL NO. 695.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will state that on a previous occasion he ruled, and I think, rightly ruled, that there cannot be a reconsideration immediately after one reconsideration has been before the House. The Chair will now rescind that statement, just made. The Chair rules that since the motion was withdrawn and also the second, that it was not properly before the House, and the Chair will now entertain the motion of the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Marshall.

Mr. MARSHALL. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 695, entitled:

An Act to amend section two of an act approved the twentieth day of June one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws five hundred and twenty-one) entitled "An act providing for the imposition and collection of certain taxes upon the transfer of property passing from a decedent who was a resident of this Commonwealth at the time of his death and of property within this Commonwealth of a decedent who was a non-resident of the Commonwealth at the time of his death and making it unlawful for any corporation of this Commonwealth or national banking association located therein to transfer the stock of such corporation or banking association standing in the name of any such decedent until the tax on the transfer thereof has been paid and providing penalties and citing certain acts for repeal" by making uniform the rates of taxation on all property under this act.

was defeated on final passage, be reconsidered.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. JORDAN. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House. I voted slightly under a misapprehension. I am just as heartily in favor of voting for revenue measures as any one of you in order to carry out the work before us. No pressure has been brought to bear upon me. Here is what many of the members of the House, as I have found out since and before, desire: A slight amendment that will give such revenue as the bill did before amended. Mr. Whitaker is absolutely in favor of it as I understand it and I am in favor of this motion heartily.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the motion?
It was agreed to.
On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. WHITAKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

SENATE MESSAGE.

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives, numbered and entitled as follows:

House Bill No. 626.

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the seventeenth day of July, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (P. L. 995), entitled "An act to provide for the appointment of assistant district attorneys in the several counties having over ninety thousand and less than seven hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants, and fixing their salaries."

with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendment, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendment.

The Clerk then read the amendment as follows:

Amend section 1, page 4, line 2, by striking out the following: "with the approval of the president judge of the court of quarter sessions may appoint."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendment made by the Senate?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, as this bill was passed in the first place, it gave the District Attorney the power, with the approval of the district judge of quarter sessions, to appoint a fourth district atorney. I voted for that bill because I knew that if the courts of quarter sessions have to give their approval that they would not give that approval unless it was absolutely necessary, for very often a district attorney for some political purpose or some friendly purpose may appoint a fourth assistant, which may be to the detriment of the county. He should have a check because the judge of the court of quarter sessions is just as much interested in the work of the court as the district attorney is, and is just as much interested to see that the proceedings are properly carried on as the district attorney is. Therefore I think he should have the judge as a check and that the door should not be left wide open to a district attorney who very often is a young man, especially so in the country districts, and has not the same experience as the judge of the court. It should not be left wide open to him as to the appointment and I say therefore, we should not concur in these amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I call for a verification of the roll.

SENATE MESSAGE.

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives, numbered and entitled as follows:

House Bill No. 697.

An Act authorizing district attorneys in counties of the fourth class to appoint county detectives defining their powers and duties fixing their salaries and providing for the payment of such salaries and the expenses of such detectives from the county treasury

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend section 1, line 5, by striking out after the word "appoint" the words "subject to the approval of the court of quarter sessions" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "either"; line 9, by inserting after the word "dollars" the words "($18,000) or one county detective alone at an annual salary not to exceed three thousand dollars ($3,000)."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I want to call the attention of the House to the fact that here is the same objection as in the other bill. I cannot understand why the approval of the court of quarter sessions is stricken out before a fourth assistant district attorney is appointed, why the judge of the court of quarter sessions should not have to give his approval. It is a safeguard to the taxpayers of the county. That is all it is. No court will withhold that approval if it is a proper appointment, and I again say why is it left wide open. That is the same objection as the other one.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Mr. WHITAKER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up from the final passage postponed calendar, for the purpose of amendment, House Bill No. 695, which was just placed on the postponed calendar this afternoon by a vote of the House.

An Act to amend section two of an act approved the twentieth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (P. L. 521), entitled "An act providing for the imposition and collection of certain taxes upon the transfer of property passing from a decedent who was a resident of this Commonwealth at the time of his death, and of property within this Commonwealth of a decedent who was a non-resident of the Commonwealth at the time of his death; and making it unlawful for any corporation of this Commonwealth, or national banking association located therein, to transfer the stock of such corporation or banking association, standing in the name of any such decedent, until the tax on the transfer thereof has been paid; and providing penalties; and citing certain acts for repeal;" by making uniform the rates of taxation on all property taxable under this act.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. WHITAKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. HAWS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WHITAKER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time, and desire to explain the purpose of the amendments. They are in accordance with the desires of many of the members of this House. The purpose of the amendment is to leave the direct inheritance tax the same as before, or rather make no change whatever in it and to make an increase, a greater increase in that of the collateral inheritance tax; instead of it being seven and one-half per cent. it is increased to ten per cent., which I understand will amount to about the same thing in the end,—so that the direct inheritance tax is not increased at all and the collateral inheritance tax is increased from seven and one-half to ten per cent.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

Amend title, page 2, lines 1, 2, and 3, by striking out the following: "by making uniform rates of taxation on all property taxable under this act."

Amend section 2, line 22, by striking out the word, "three," and inserting in lieu thereof, the word "two."

Amend section 2, lines 4 and 5, by striking out the words "seven and one-half" and inserting in lieu thereof, the words "ten."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

RECESS.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House take a recess until 8.30 o'clock P. M.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.
Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order.
The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1187, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the seventeenth day of July one thousand nine hundred and nineteen entitled "An act requiring licenses to sell steamship tickets or orders for transportation to or from foreign countries and providing penalties"

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the sponsor of the bill.
The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Walker, permit himself to be interrogated?
Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.
Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, what is the real purpose of the bill? I am in hearty sympathy with the object of the bill, but I notice that it says that licenses shall only be given to agents who represent three lines, and I am wondering why that limitation is put in the bill and why a man of good character who represents one line should apply for a license and not receive it.
Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. I will ask the gentleman, if he will be good enough, to defer this examination until tomorrow morning while I offer these amendments.
On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.
The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.
The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend title, line 3, by inserting after "nineteen" the following: "(P. L. 1003)."
Amend section 1, line 5, page 1, by inserting after "nineteen" the following: "(P. L. 1003)."
Amend section 1, page 5, line 20, by inserting after "where" the word "by."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.
On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1167, entitled:

An Act providing that in townships of the first class municipal claims for grading, construction, paving, rebuilding, curbing, maintaining, repairing and cleaning sidewalks and footwalks, and keeping the same clear of obstruction and other nuisances, may be included in and collected with the other township taxes.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Pike, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PIKE. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Will Mr. Pike kindly explain the purposes of this bill.

Mr. PIKE. This bill gives commissioners of first class townships the power to collect moneys due for cleaning up sidewalks of obstruction and placing the amount therefor together with the township taxes.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Why should a lien for the cleaning of sidewalks which is filed of record in the Prothonotary's office in the regular way, why should that be put on the tax duplicate for the tax collector to collect and charge this commission in addition?

Mr. PIKE. For the same reason that moneys that are due for cleaning sidewalks and repairing them are not payable and to be collected because the owners are down in Florida or some other country.

Mr. ALEXANDER. If that lien is filed as this provides and it is a lien against the real estate the proceeding is on a scire facias sur municipal lien against this real estate. Why should it be put on a tax duplicate for collection when it already is a lien.

Mr. PIKE. This is before it has been liened. This is simply a charge for cleaning sidewalks of obstruction like snow and ice.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Will you state, Mr. Pike, whether or not this has the sanction of the first class townships.

Mr. PIKE. It has.

Mr. ALEXANDER. It has been sanctioned by that commission?

Mr. PIKE. Yes, sir.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PIKE. The purpose of the bill is to clarify the salary of county treasurers and place them on the same basis as the county commissioners of the rest of the State, except for the counties of Montgomery and Berks.

Mr. BRENDLE. Was not that bill repealed some time ago for Berks County? Will this bill affect Berks and Montgomery alone?

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 572, entitled:

An Act providing for the sentencing of certain criminals to reformatories or houses of correction in counties of the first class

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend section one, page 1, line 7, by inserting after the word "State" the word "or."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1079, entitled:

An Act creating a Commission to select an historic spot as a cemetery for the burial of bodies of soldiers, sailors, marines, war nurses and members of the National Guard; defining the powers and duties of the Commission; and making an appropriation.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BARNHART. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Lebanon.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Barnhart, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BARNHART. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know the purpose of the gentleman in recommitting this bill to the Appropriations Committee?

Mr. BARNHART. The bill, in the first place, was presented to the Military Committee for action. As a matter of fact, this bill carries an appropriation with it, and it is at the direction of the chairman of the Military Committee that this motion is made to recomit it to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, this bill is a bill creating a commission. The bill was prepared at the instance of the Governor. You will remember about two months ago, that we passed through this House a bill establishing a State cemetery at Valley Forge which bill was introduced at the request of seven hundred war mothers, whose boys lie over on the fields of France. They wish to bring them over here and place them under the soil in the State of Pennsylvania, and the bill provided for a cemetery at Valley Forge. That bill passed this House and Senate by a unanimous vote, and went to the Governor.

The Governor requested me to recall the bill as it was his purpose to veto it. We had fourteen hundred acres at Valley Forge, and the commissioners were willing to have a cemetery there for the boys who sacrificed their lives for this country. I recalled the bill and in its place this bill was prepared, calling for the appointment of a commission to select some site in this State. I do not see why the bill should be recommitted. It provides for this commission and calls for an appropriation of a thousand dollars. If this bill is passed, it can be taken care of in the general appropriation bill. We should have this commission to select this site for these deserving war mothers.

Mr. BARNHART. Mr. Speaker, if I remember correctly, in the early part of this session the Speaker announced from the Chair that any bills carrying appropriations must be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations. For that reason this motion is made.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I hope the members of this House will not vote for this motion, because we all know when a bill passes here with a small appropriation, it can be taken care of in the General Appropriation Bill.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Dunn.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Dunn, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DUNN. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if, in order that the Appropriation Committee might keep tabs on this, it would not be better that they should have the bill itself so they could take account of it and make the appropriation?

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman from Delaware, I would say that it is my purpose, if this bill is passed, to take it up with the chairman of the Appropriations Committee and ask him to insert one thousand dollars in the general Appropriation Bill to meet the requirements of this bill.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, what I was going to suggest is this: Wouldn't it be a good plan to have it acted on now and then refer it to the Appropriations Committee of the Senate?

Mr. DUNN. Sure, that is my idea.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. H. Feldmann, offered the following prayer:

O Lord God, Thou Thyself has told us through the holy prophets that the nation without a vision is sure to perish. Grant unto us that no such catastrophe shall ever overtake our land and our people, especially since Thou has blessed us in the past with such an illustrious example of Thy tenderness and love.

We thank Thee that Thou didst put it into the hearts of men to launch in this land the biggest and the broadest and the most beautiful example of Christian freedom and liberty—civil liberty—as the world has ever seen, and we pray Thee that Thou will call forth from time to time leaders who shall carry the torch, that we may go on to even greater and better things. May the folds of our flag be ready to receive the oppressed and the down-trodden of all nations and climes; but may there be no nook or cranny in this land where oppression or persecution can ever thrive.

Call Thou forth, we beseech Thee, again the Washingtons and the Pinkneys; the Garrisons and the Phillips and the Lincolns, that at this stage in the history of the world where we must either go onward and upward to higher and better things or downward to destruction, that we shall have those who shall lead to better and more blessed things than we have ever enjoyed hitherto. Amen.

RESOLUTION ELECTING HOWARD CATLIN AN ASSISTANT SERGEANT-AT-ARMS.

Mr. DONALD D. MILLER offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, April 7, 1921.

Resolved, That Howard Catlin of McKean County be and is hereby elected to the position as Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms, vacancy caused by the resignation of Claude H. Heath of McKean County.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is accordingly elected by the House.

JOINT RESOLUTION.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following resolution.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that resolutions are only offerable under the rules on Mondays and Fridays.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will state to the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Alexander, that, as this is a joint resolution, it must be introduced the same as a bill, and must take the same course that a bill does.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker in the Evening Bulletin of sonal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker in the Evening Bulletin of April 26, 1921, appears the following: "Cortelyou scores Bills, director brands Vare-inspired measures as 'vicious'; Vare-inspired legislation, providing for regulation of policemen and city magistrates was attacked as 'vicious' and 'insulting' by Director Cortelyou, Department of Public Safety," of the city of Philadelphia. Following that is a reference to the Sowers bill, and later on it says "The Dunn bill, providing for co-operation between police and county detectives, with the later supervising their joint work."

In the statement it says "Discussing the Dunn bill, Director Cortelyou says:

'I will go to Harrisburg if necessary to fight this bill. It is an insult to the four thousand policemen on the force. There is no necessity for such an act. As former head of the county detectives, I can say the police have always co-operated with the county, State, and Federal authorities. Policemen know their business and need no instructions from the county detectives."

In the first part of the article in regard to Vare-inspired legislation, I want to say that I have no apology to offer for the friendship that I hold for Senator Vare. In all my legislative work Senator Vare has never suggested or offered me a bill to present to this House, and never came into this House and ordered me, and gave me instructions to vote on any legislation that was contrary to my own conscience, except in political matters in Philadelphia.

The third part in reference to the Sowers' law—he is here and can speak for himself. As to the other part, there is only one part in regard to the Senator Vare proposition, that I am inspired by him, but he never requested me in ten years of service to introduce a bill in this House. There is only one time that I took his instructions, and that was when the Child Labor Bill was under discussion in this House in 1915. I as a member of the subcommittee after fighting for three months for that legislation entered the sub-committee after the Legislature had adjourned to take up various amendments that had been offered by the various manufacturers and corporations throughout the State that they thought ought to go into the Child Labor Bill. Among them was one that extended the hours of labor to newsboys serving newspapers in the evening in the City of Philadelphia. He came to me while I had that bill in the sub-committee, and he said it was a request from the Representatives of the Bulletin and he asked me to accept the amendment which they offered increasing the hours so that the newsboys might serve papers in Philadelphia. That was the only amendment that was introduced to the Child Labor Act granting a concession to a corporation in this great State. So you can see my friends that the only time that I took an order from Senator Vare was then. It was through his efforts that there was placed on the statute books of this Commonwealth the Child Labor Law, because we know that during the closing hours of the session of 1915, Representative Walnut, of Philadelphia, through the strength of the pressure that was brought to bear on him fell exhausted in the Senate appealing for the passage of the Child Labor Bill.

The second part, so far as the Dunn Bill is concerned, I never introduced such an act in this House, and there is no record in the House to show that I introduced this particular piece of legislation mentioned in the newspapers as having been sanctioned and sponsored by me. I only make that statement on a question of personal privilege so that my good correspondent friends in this House may send down to the papers in Philadelphia my objections to making a statement charging me with introducing a piece of legislation which I never introduced.
